Crowther,2005-12-06 PREFACE The Joint FAO IAEA Division of Nuclear Techniques in Food and Agriculture is involved in agricultural research and development and assists Member States of FAO and IAEA in improving strategies to ensure food security through the use of nuclear techniques and related biotechnologies where such techniques have a valuable and often unique role In particular molecular diagnostic methods have rapidly evolved in the past twenty years since the advent of the Polymerase Chain Reaction PCR They are used in a wide range of agricultural areas such as improving soil and water management producing better crop varieties diagnosing plant and animal diseases controlling insect pests and improving food quality and safety. The uses of nucleic acid directed methods have increased significantly in the past five years and have made important contributions to disease control country programmes for improving national and international trade. These developments include the more routine use of PCR as a diagnostic tool in veterinary diagnostic laboratories. However there are many problems associated with the transfer and particularly the application of this technology. These include lack of consideration of the establishment of quality assured procedures, the required set up of the laboratory and the proper training of staff. This can lead to a situation where results are not assured. This book gives a comprehensive account of the practical aspects of PCR and strong consideration is given to ensure its optimal use in a laboratory environment. This includes the setting up of a PCR laboratory, Good Laboratory Practice and standardised of PCR protocols.

The book discusses wide ranging topics of available biosensor based technologies and their application for early viral detection. Sections cover the emergence of SARS-CoV, MERS-CoV and SARS-CoV2, the global health response, the impact on affected populations, state of the art biomarkers and risk factors. Specific focus is given to COVID-19 with coverage of genomic profiling, strain variation and the pathogenesis of SARS-CoV2. In addition, current therapeutics, nano enabled advancements and challenges in the detection of SARS-CoV2 and COVID-19 management are discussed along with the role of nanomaterials in the development of biosensors and how biosensors can be scaled up for clinical applications and commercialization. Deals with biosensors based approaches that could be exploited to design and develop high throughput, rapid and cost effective diagnostics technologies for the early detection of viral infections. Illustrates the development of multiplexed, miniaturized analytical systems for point of care applications. Provides information about fabrication protocols for various biosensor based diagnostic approaches that could be directly implemented to develop a novel biosensor. Includes the past, present and future status of biosensors along with information about biosensors currently under clinical trials.
