Ranking Business Schools Linda Wedlin, 2006-01-01 In her admirable book Wedlin entangles what business school rankings really are and why they have become so important The book contains plenty to interest the growing army of business school employees whose duties at least in part are concerned with boosting their institution's position in the rankings Education and Training In times when the management education field is increasingly impacted by a proliferation of ranking exercises this book is a timely and welcome contribution Linda Wedlin unpacks for us the real meaning of the contemporary explosion of rankings Rather than simple classification schemes and mechanisms rankings are she suggests arenas where the field of business education is being created and re created They are the loci of boundary work whereby a field is progressively evolving and constituting itself This is a convincing study relying on rich empirical data and carefully anchored in relevant theoretical debates A must read for all those academics students policy makers and education professionals who want to understand the complex contemporary logics of higher education in management but also probably well beyond Marie Laure Djelic ESSEC Business School Paris France League tables appear everywhere and have become important aspects of business school environments Based on in depth and creatively combined empirical studies Linda Wedlin provides us with explanations and insights on the emergence and impact of such rankings This book should be of great value for all those who seek to play the ranking game It gives a fresh perspective on how classification mechanisms drive the emergence boundary setting and change of organizational fields Kerstin Sahlin Andersson Uppsala University Sweden A fascinating study of the complex issues surrounding MBA rankings Business schools really hate them but at times have to pretend to love them Magazines and newspapers are really interested in their sales potential but have to make pretensions about their veracity Linda Wedlin focuses on an area rich in hypocrisy and hype but also one where there are real consequences ranking furthered reinforces the homogenising tendencies of MBAs Anthony Hopwood Said Business School University of Oxford UK This is a most fascinating topic dealt with in a manner which is both serious and entertaining everyone in a business school would want to read it Linda Wedlin's excellent research is presented with a no nonsense approach if there is anything worth counting she counts it and then interprets it no fuss Exemplary Barbara Czarniawska Gteborg University Sweden This engaging book offers a fresh perspective on the burgeoning field of European management education and its intense concern with rankings Using a creative mix of well crafted research tools Wedlin deftly captures a professional field in transition as it both expands and develops shared standards Walter W Powell Stanford University US International comparisons and rankings of universities and business schools have proliferated in recent years Ranking Business Schools provides a welcome analysis of this development and its implications for the field of management education theorizing the role of classifications such as rankings in forming and structuring organizational fields Focusing on the European experience with rankings and the subsequent response the book illustrates how business schools use rankings to form identities and positions and to draw boundaries for the field By both creating and confirming belonging to a business school community and providing distinction within that group rankings are important for defining an international field of management education organizations constructing an international business school market and constitute an arena for debating and establishing the boundaries of this field Building an extensive theoretical framework for understanding classification New Age Admissions Strategies in Business Schools Kalia, Shalini,Nafees, Lubna,2019-04-15 Admissions is critical for every educational institution However recruiting quality students for business schools is challenging leading to the need to identify and understand challenges that threaten admission New Age Admissions Strategies in Business Schools provides innovative insights into the opportunities and challenges for student recruitment in business schools such as cross cultural nuances and attracting international applicants while also delivering strategies for recruitment across all program types including undergraduate graduate executive and part time admissions While highlighting topics that include effective communication international admission and hybrid learning this publication is ideal for policy directors administration heads researchers and deans in education to understand the market well and design the processes of admissions Technology and the American Economy; Report United States. The Value & Purpose of Management Education Eric Cornuel,Howard Thomas,Matthew Wood,2022-03-01 Without a doubt business schools have been a success story in higher education over the last 50 years the period of EFMD's existence Even so they have come under scrutiny and attack over their academic legitimacy and value proposition for business and society In this book drawn from a special issue of Global Focus the EFMD has selected around 25 of the best most thoughtful short papers published in Global Focus to examine the role and purpose of EFMD in the evolution of management education Each of the chapters interpret current strategic debates about the evolution of business schools and their paradigms and also identify possible strategic options for handling uncertain volatile futures These papers can be broadly categorized into four consistent themes the first theme is concerned with the purpose and value proposition of management education the second theme focuses on a perceived need for new business models and how to design and build them the third theme addresses the question of the impact of the business school on business and society given the increasingly academic pursuits of business schools and their often weak links to the business community the so called rigour relevance dilemma and the fourth theme concerns how to map and design business school futures in an increasingly volatile uncertain complex and ambiguous crisis oriented environment This impressive collection of insights from business management leaders from across the globe is inspiring reading for higher education leaders policy makers and business leaders seeking insight into the future of management education The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license
