Food Routes Robyn Metcalfe, 2020-12-08 Finding opportunities for innovation on the path between farmer and table Even if we think we know a lot about good and healthy food even if we buy organic believe in slow food and read Eater we probably don't know much about how food gets to the table What happens between the farm and the kitchen Why are all avocados from Mexico Why does a restaurant in Maine order lamb from New Zealand In Food Routes Robyn Metcalfe explores an often overlooked aspect of the global food system how food moves from producer to consumer She finds that the food supply chain is adapting to our increasingly complex demands for both personalization and convenience but she says it won't be an easy ride Networked digital tools will improve the food system but will also challenge our relationship to food in anxiety provoking ways It might not be easy to transfer our affections from verdant fields of organic tomatoes to high rise greenhouses tended by robots And yet argues Metcalfe a cautious technology optimist technological advances offer opportunities for innovations that can get better food to more people in an increasingly urbanized world Metcalfe follows a slice of New York pizza and a club sandwich through the food supply chain considers local foods global foods and food deserts investigates the processing packaging and storage of food explores the transportation networks that connect farm to plate and explains how food can be tracked using sensors and the Internet of Things Future food may be engineered networked and nearly independent of crops grown in fields New technologies can make the food system more efficient but at what cost to our traditionally close relationship with food

A New Kind of Diversity Tim Elmore, 2022-10-25 In A New Kind of Diversity bestselling author Tim Elmore brings his decades of research and leadership experience to bear on what might be the biggest most dramatic and most disruptive shift the American workforce has ever seen the vast diversity of several generations living and working together The past few years have brought an endless cascade of social media movements that left many of us well scratching our heads Regardless of how we feel about the gaps between us there is one we cannot avoid One of the largest gaps remains an elephant in the room We know it s there but we don t know how to talk about it It s the different generations that find themselves working together It s a generation gap There is a new kind of diversity that only eight percent of U S companies even recognize diverse generations on teams For the first time in history up to five generations find themselves working alongside each other in a typical company The result There can be division Interactions between people from different generations can resemble a cross cultural relationship Both usually possess different values and customs At times each generation is literally speaking a different language How can we hope to work together when we can t even understand each other
