established industries and wiped out many large companies through their mass growth through technological innovation. They quickly became the world's largest and most convenient e-commerce marketplace and also the world's largest company. Billions are spent on Amazon by consumers every year. This turned Jeff Bezos into the world's richest man as he owns a 12% stake in Amazon. The company was primarily founded as an online book marketplace. They later expanded to start selling everything. Amazon customers love the company because of the two-day delivery service. In many areas it's one-day delivery or even same-day delivery. Because of this amazing delivery service, Amazon won't be budged as the number 1 e-commerce platform. This along with their openness to adopt cryptocurrencies ensures that it'll continue to be a platform used by all. This is because many of the population are scared of the debt-based economic crisis the world is in, exacerbated by trade wars and questionable economic policies. By being open to take cryptocurrencies, Amazon will continue to dominate as the world's largest company and largest e-commerce provider. For this reason, it's more important than ever to rank your products on Google through Amazon. Google's algorithm is based on content. Whoever has the largest quantity of relevant content will dominate Google search. Of course, the domain rating of Amazon and backlink profile to your listing play a significant factor. How do you increase the amount of content on your listing page so it's Google-friendly? Maximizing your features and description is crucial. After that, it's increasing being able to generate Amazon product reviews. You need a reliable system for generating reviews to win on both Google and Amazon. By ranking on Google, you'll also rank on Amazon because you'll be sending so much traffic to Amazon and they'll reward you. Even Amazon reviews alone will help you rank on Amazon; ranking on Google will add fuel to the fire and rocket your listing. The author, Matthew Gumke, is an expert in SEO search engine optimisation with multiple books on the subject, clients, and thousands of students across the world. He's been able to use search engines to create multiple passive income streams. From his success with SEO, Matthew has become the leading English-speaking teacher for Kaya Online.
