Top Movies Vs Returns:

Predicting Movie Success at the Box Office Barrie Gunter, 2018-02-20 This book explores the different factors that can influence a new movie's prospects at the box office. Looking at factors such as the production budget, distribution model, genre, stars, and audience reactions of films, Gunter asks how such aspects may reduce the uncertainties of success so common in the movie industry. The reader is taken on a journey through filmmaking factors that research suggests impact box office performance. While box office revenues represent only part of a movie's earning potential, Gunter highlights how theatrical performances remain central to what the movie business is about. The chapters illustrate how ticket sales are largely influenced by the production budget but also cultural differences and new movie platforms.

Natural Language Interfaces for Databases with Deep Learning George Katsogiannis-Meimarakis, Anna Mitsopoulou, Mike Xydias, Georgia Koutrika, 2025-11-12 This book covers the main research areas that aim to bridge the world of databases and SQL with the world of natural language. It provides a comprehensive coverage of the most influential work in the field that takes advantage of deep learning. Enabling users to access databases using natural language has been a longstanding goal since the inception of relational databases that despite continued efforts remains an open challenge. However, the advancement of neural networks has given new life to this area, inspiring a new wave of works in multiple directions. Starting with an introduction on the history of NLDBs and a brief neural primer on deep learning architectures frequently mentioned throughout the book, the initial chapters focus on the Text to SQL problem. There, an overview of the problem is given followed by a general architecture of Text to SQL systems and a deeper analysis of specific systems. Additionally, the reverse process of explaining an SQL query, i.e. SQL to Text, is examined along with open research problems and the currently available solutions. The book continues with the multi-turn Text to SQL problem that enables users to make corrections or ask follow-up questions, outlining the underlying system architectures and introducing key representative systems. To put everything into perspective, the subsequent chapter takes a broader look at the more general areas of code understanding and generation that encapsulate the problems discussed in the previous chapters. Moving on, the focus shifts on generating NL explanations and summaries of data, i.e. the Data to Text problem, offering an overview of the problem and its challenges as well as an overall system architecture and specific Data to Text systems. Then, bringing Data to Text closer to NLDBs, the book dives deeper into the Results to Text problem that focuses on how to express the result of a query in user-friendly natural language. Finally, the book concludes by offering insights into how all the discussed research areas and systems can be brought together to create an NLDB, along with risks and challenges that must be considered in the process. This book is intended for both researchers and practitioners interested in NLDBs regardless of their prior familiarity with the topic. Readers with experience in this area will benefit from a structured overview and categorization of existing systems along with an in-depth analysis of benchmarks, persistent challenges, and open research questions. Conversely, newcomers can explore the landscape of neural NLIDBs through an accessible presentation of the relevant subfields and key advancements without requiring any prior background knowledge
