Moral Rhetoric and the Criminalisation of Squatting Lorna Fox O'Mahony, David O'Mahony, Robin Hickey, 2014-10-24 This collection of critical essays considers the criminalisation of squatting from a range of different theoretical policy and practice perspectives While the practice of squatting has long been criminalised in some jurisdictions the last few years have witnessed the emergence of a newly constituted political concern with unlawful occupation of land With initiatives to address the threat of squatting sweeping across Europe the offence of squatting in a residential building was created in England in 2012 This development which has attracted a large measure of media attention has been widely regarded as a controversial policy departure with many commentators Parliamentarians and professional organisations arguing that its support is premised on misunderstandings of the current law and a precarious evidence base concerning the nature and prevalence of squatting Moral Rhetoric and the Criminalisation of Squatting explores the significance of measures to criminalise squatting for squatters owners and communities The book also interrogates wider themes that draw on political philosophy social policy criminal justice and the nature of ownership to consider how the assimilation of squatting to a contemporary punitive turn is shaping the political social legal and moral landscapes of property housing and crime

Exploring the Links between Social Connections, Care and Integration Marcia Vera Espinoza, Arek Dakessian, Clayton Boeyink, 2024-10-18 Integration has in recent decades emerged as the primary policy tool through which the nations of the global north and increasingly the global south shepherd their immigrants to achieve the same social and economic outcomes as natives taking into account their characteristics OECD 2018 Despite scholarship on the importance of social connections to facilitate feelings of belonging and settlement lack of consensus around what integration means has led to bustling critique of the notion as prescribing processes through which migrant others must work their way into acceptance in the body social Moreover scholars recognise that discourses and practices of integration are often used as means to justify accompanying policies of disintegration and exclusion Put differently there is a humanitarian hand that cares and a hand that strikes Frameworks for understanding migration and integration traverse the realms of theory policy and practice and are usually intertwined with discourses and regimes of care and connectedness This Research Topic aims to further unsettle debates around integration and care through an engagement with the value commitments that underlie integration projects and that drive everyday practice and service provision drawing upon perspectives beyond the global north Housing, 2002 Reclaiming Democracy in Cities Gülçin Coşkun, Tuba İnal-Çekiç, Ertuğ Tombuş, 2024-03-26 Effective urban governance is essential in responding to the challenges of inequality migration public health housing security and climate change Reclaiming Democracy in Cities frames the city as a political actor in its own right exploring the city's potential to develop deliberative and participatory practices which help inform innovative democratic solutions to modern day challenges Bringing together expertise from an international selection of scholars from various fields this book begins with three chapters which discuss the theoretical idea of the democratic city and the real world applicability of such a model Part II discusses new and innovative democratic practices at the local level and asks in what way these practices help us to rethink democratic politics institutions and mechanisms in order to move toward a more egalitarian pluralist and inclusive direction Drawing on the Istanbul municipal elections and the Kurdish municipal experience Part III focuses on the question of whether cities and local governments can lead to the emergence of strong democratic forces that oppose authoritarian regimes Finally Part IV discusses urban solidarity networks and collaborations at both the local level and beyond the nation questioning whether urban solidarity networks and alliances with civil society or transnational city networks can create alternative ways of thinking about the city as a locus of democracy This edited volume will appeal to academics researchers and advanced students in the fields of urban studies particularly those with an interest in democratic theory local democracy participation and municipalities It will also be relevant for practitioners of local governments NGOs and advocacy groups and activists working for solidarity networks between cities Legal Action, 2002 Community-Led Generation Pablo Sendra, Daniel Fitzpatrick, 2020-04-15 Through seven London case studies of communities opposing social housing demolition and or proposing community led plans Community Led Regeneration offers a toolkit of planning mechanisms and other strategies that residents and planners working with communities can use to resist demolition and propose community led schemes The case studies are Waltherton and Elgins Community Homes West Ken and Gibbs Green Community Homes Cressingham Gardens Community Greater Carpenters Neighbourhood Forum Focus E15 People's Empowerment Alliance for Custom House PEACH and Alexandra and Ainsworth Estates Together these case studies represent a broad overview of groups that formed as a reaction to proposed demolitions of residents housing and groups that formed as a way to manage residents homes and public space better Drawing from the case studies the toolkit includes the use of formal planning instruments as well as other strategies such as sustained campaigning and activism forms of citizen led design and alternative proposals for the management and ownership of housing by communities themselves Community Led Regeneration targets a diverse audience from planning professionals and scholars working with communities to housing activists and residents resisting the
