Teaching Literature with Artificial Intelligence Eric D. Abrams, 2025-09-15 Teaching Literature with Artificial Intelligence explores the use of chatbots as participants in the teaching and learning of literature in high school and college classrooms while highlighting potentially outmoded norms and expectations of ELA instruction. Artificial intelligence programs have profoundly altered the daily realities of teachers and students, inspiring concern and opportunity alike. Thought provoking, theoretically grounded, and full of replicable autoethnographic experiments, this book offers real world examples of generative chatbot technologies in ELA classrooms, positioning their accessibility and ubiquity as an incentive for critiquing and enriching traditional teaching and learning approaches. Graduate students, teaching faculty, and scholars of teacher education, English and literature education, digital literacies, and learning design will come away with a sharp critique of the purported affordances of chatbots as well as an incisive demonstration of AI as a classroom tool that supports rather than diminishes the meaningful learning, critical thinking, and agentive development of young people today.

Machina Sapiens Nello Cristianini, 2025-08-19 Can machines think? This troubling question posed by Alan Turing in 1950 has perhaps been answered today: we can converse with a computer without being able to distinguish it from a person. Machines can pass university exams and program other computers. ChatGPT, Bard, and other language models have proved proficient at performing tasks far beyond their creators' initial expectations, and we still do not know why. Trained simply to predict missing words in a text, such models have gained an understanding of the world and language that makes them capable of reasoning, planning, solving problems, as well as conversing almost flawlessly. Is this the secret of knowledge, and is it now in the hands of our creations? Perhaps we are no longer alone. And as we try to figure out how to share these powers with the aliens who now work at our side, we can wonder what else they may learn tomorrow Are we approaching a critical threshold beyond which machines will attain superhuman performance Following on from The Shortcut Nello Cristianini has authored another brilliant book written like a gripping thriller explaining the ideas behind a technology destined to change the world If our worst terror has always stemmed from fear of the unknown the cure since time immemorial is knowledge The Ultimate Guide to ChatGPT Prompts Remon
