Peacemaking and the Extractive Industries Natalie Ralph, 2017-11-22 Peacemaking and the Extractive Industries addresses a significant gap in research on the political and diplomatic role of multinational corporations in peace processes in intrastate conflict Corporate Peacemaking The author focuses on corporations in the oil and mining sectors supporting or participating in peace negotiations and mediation The chapters explore national level peace processes as well as those at community and global levels While the focus is on extractive companies the findings are valuable to companies from all industries looking at peace related processes This ground breaking book gives a comprehensive picture of how Corporate Peacemaking currently works how it can be developed and implemented and how it is likely to impact global governance and corporate culture in the future The book demonstrates that Corporate Peacemaking has the potential to be a powerful element in international governance and peace efforts and Ralph shows through the business case that companies as well as communities will benefit Ralph presents a new framework for Corporate Peace that will assist companies from all sectors in countries experiencing violent conflict in addition to instability human rights abuses and poor governance Based on rigorous academic research with practical case studies it is essential reading for practitioners academics policy makers and NGOs

Business, Peacebuilding, and Regulation Sean Molloy, 2024-08-26 This book examines the relationship between business based peacebuilding and the opportunities that emerge from the pluralisation of regulation The core message is notwithstanding the broad range of regulatory initiatives and actors that exist in conflict affected settings the state should assume responsibilities for defining the types of contribution that business can and ought to make to peace It also demonstrates how the state through different forms and methods of regulation is well placed to engage businesses to do so It is particularly concerned with the potential for regulation to help address what is identified as a state of optimistic uncertainty in the field of business and peacebuilding On one level there is a sense of optimism around the types of contributions that businesses can and often do make as agents for peace On another there are varying degrees of uncertainty surrounding the actual peacebuilding impacts of business activities how businesses are to understand the ways in which to make these contributions and why businesses would do so Regulation this book will argue can play an important role in bridging the chasm between optimism and uncertainty This book will be of interest to those engaged not only with business and peacebuilding but also business and human rights business and development and business and the environment Moreover this book is also of contemporary interest in other ways the aftermath of the Ukrainian conflict as an example will require a concerted effort to rebuild that society after war Private sector actors could be a powerful vehicle for reconstruction and development and this book examines how regulation can be used to facilitate businesses involvement in peacebuilding efforts

Local and Global Dynamics of Peacebuilding Christine Cubitt, 2012-03-12 Local and Global Dynamics of Peacebuilding examines the complex contributing factors which led to war and state collapse in Sierra Leone and the international peacebuilding and statebuilding operations which followed the cessation of the violence This book presents nuanced and contextually specific knowledge of Sierra Leone s political and war histories and the outcomes of the implementation of programmes of post conflict reforms It embodies an analysis of the complex challenges involved in aligning international norms and values to local expectations and local priorities and examines the role of local and global actors and structures in attempts to build a strong state and lasting peace Using a theoretical framework informed by liberal peace philosophy as well as detailed and nuanced empirical evidence from the field the book constructs a critical analysis of the contemporary global paradigm for building longer term peace in war torn fractured and fragile societies This book will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding war and conflict studies development studies African politics and IR security studies the transnational political economy of global commodity production      Contested Consultations in the Extractive Industries Paul A. Haslam, Nathan Andrews, Karin Buhmann, Ibironke T. Odumosu-Ayanu, Mark Stoddart, 2025-10-02 This volume examines how communities, companies and governments contest and contribute to the evolution of norms, rules and decision making procedures that govern stakeholder consultation in the extractive industries. In recent years, international organisations, governments and companies around the world have dramatically reformed the regime that governs consultations with community stakeholders about proposed extractive projects. However, the characteristics of this consultation regime are often contested, with diverse stakeholders seeking to defend their interests by drawing on different authoritative interpretations of the rules, norms and decision making procedures that govern stakeholder consultation. Contestation over the meaning, governance and practice of stakeholder consultation is the central thread that ties this book together. Within this overarching concern, the volume takes a global and comparative perspective that examines the complexity of these intersecting and overlapping consultation requirements, with a particular focus on Indigenous Peoples, using cases from the Global North and Global South including Argentina, Australia, Brazil, Canada, The Central African Republic, The Democratic Republic of Congo, Iceland, Ghana, Greenland, Guyana, Norway and Peru. The book highlights the tensions associated with the application of this contested regime and identifies possible solutions from best practices around the world. From a theoretical perspective, the book unpacks the maze of overlapping consultation requirements and practices that highlights the normative disagreements between key stakeholders and the overlapping rules and procedures that govern the implementation of consultation. A unique contribution of this collection is the commentary from practitioners who reflect on the same issues addressed by the academic contributors but based on their own vast practical experience. This book will be of great interest to students and scholars researching public participation and stakeholder consultation in the extractive industries as well as natural resource governance and sustainable development more broadly.      Creating Shared Value to get Social License to Operate in the Extractive Industry Cesar Saenz, 2021-04-12 Creating Shared Value to get Social License to Operate in the Extractive Industry presents techniques and models that will enable you to actually formulate, implement and evaluate strategies to shared value to earn SLO.
