Regulating Reproductive Donation Susan Golombok, Rosamund Scott, John B. Appleby, Martin Richards, Stephen Wilkinson, 2016-04-01 The emergence of new empirical evidence and ethical debate about families created by assisted reproduction has called into question the current regulatory frameworks that govern reproductive donation in many countries In this multidisciplinary book social scientists ethicists and lawyers offer fresh perspectives on the current challenges facing the regulation of reproductive donation and suggest possible ways forward They address questions such as what might people want to know about the circumstances of their conception Should we limit the number of children donors can produce Is it wrong to pay donors or to reward them with cut price fertility treatments Is overseas surrogacy exploitative of women from poor communities Combining the latest empirical research with analysis of ethics policy and legislation the book focuses on the regulation of gamete and embryo donation and surrogacy at a time when more people are considering assisted reproduction and when new techniques and policies are underway

IVF and Assisted Reproduction Sarah Ferber, Nicola J. Marks, Vera Mackie, 2020-12-17 This is the first transnational history of IVF and assisted reproduction It is a key text for scholars and students in social science history science and technology studies STS cultural studies and gender and sexuality studies and a resource for journalists policymakers and anyone interested in assisted reproduction IVF was seen as revolutionary in 1978 when the first two IVF babies were born in the UK and India Assisted reproduction has now contributed to the birth of around ten million people The book traces the work of IVF teams as they developed new techniques and laid the foundations of a multi billion dollar industry It analyses the changing definitions and experience of infertility the markets for eggs and children through surrogacy cross border reproductive treatment and the impact of regulation Using interviews with leading IVF figures archives media reports and the latest science it is a vital addition to the field of reproduction studies This pathbreaking account of the global forces behind the rapid rise of the fertility industry is the first to offer such a truly comprehensive overview of this hugely important topic Sarah Franklin Chair of Sociology University of Cambridge In this compelling overview of one of the most significant technological and social interventions ever developed the cultural and scientific imaginaries of assisted reproduction meet the obdurate histories of laboratory experiments biological materials and personal quests It is an indispensable read for anyone interested in IVF and assisted reproduction Andrea Whittaker Professor of Anthropology Monash University

Regulating Autonomy Shelley Day Sclater, 2009-04 These essays explore the nature and limits of individual autonomy in law policy and the work of regulatory agencies Authors ask searching questions about the nature and scope of the regulation of private lives from intimacies personal relationships and domestic lives to reproduction They question the extent to which the law does or should protect individual autonomy Recent rapid advances in the development of new technologies particularly those concerned with human genetics and assisted reproduction have generated new questions practical social legal and ethical about how far the state should intervene in individual decision making Is there an inevitable tension between individual liberty and the common good How might a workable balance between the public and the private be struck How indeed should we think about autonomy The essays explore the arguments used to create and maintain the boundaries of autonomy for example the protection of the vulnerable public goods of various kinds and the maintenance of tradition and respect for cultural practices Contributors address how those boundaries should be drawn and interventions justified How are contemporary ethical debates about autonomy constructed and what principles do they embody What happens when those principles become manifest in law

Reproductive Donation Martin Richards, Guido Pennings, John B. Appleby, 2012-07-05 Reproductive donation is the most contentious area of assisted reproduction Even within Europe there are wide variations in what is permitted in each country This multidisciplinary book takes a fresh look at the practices of egg sperm and embryo donation and surrogacy bringing together ethical analysis and empirical research New evidence is offered on aspects of assisted reproduction and the families these create including non traditional types One of the key issues addressed is should children be told of their donor origin If they do learn the identity of their donor what kinds of relationships may be forged between families the donor and other donor sibling families Should donation involve a gift relationship Is intra familial donation too close for comfort How should we understand the growing trend for reproductive tourism This lively and informed discussion offers new insights into reproductive donation and the resulting donor families

Transnationalising Reproduction Roisin Ryan Flood, Jenny Gunnarsson Payne, 2020-02-25 Written by specialists from three different continents Transnationalising Reproduction examines a broad range of issues concerning kinship and identity citizenship and regulation and global markets of reproductive labour including gamete donation and gestational surrogacy

Donor Conception and the Search for Information Sonia Allan, 2016-10-14 Examines the extent to which laws in the United States Canada United Kingdom and Australia regulate access to assisted reproductive technology ART and control the use of surrogacy and payments made to surrogate mothers Identifies models which may assist in the further development of the law in these jurisdictions Reflects contrasting perceptions of the role the law should play in the highly personal matter of human reproduction

Between Families and Frankenstein Erin Heidt-Forsythe, 2018-06-22 In the United States egg donation for reproduction and egg donation for research involve the same procedures the same risks and the same population of donors disadvantaged women at the intersections of race and class Yet cultural attitudes and state level policies regarding egg donation are dramatically different depending on whether the donation is for reproduction or for research Erin Heidt Forsythe explores the ways that framing egg donation itself creates diverse politics in the United States which unlike other Western democracies has no centralized method of regulating donations relying instead on market forces and state legislatures to regulate egg donation and reproductive technologies Beginning with a history of scientific research around the human egg the book connects historical debates about the natural reproduction and unnatural research uses of women s eggs to contemporary political regulation of egg donation Examining egg donation in California New York Arizona and Louisiana and coupled with original data on how egg donation has been regulated over the last twenty years this book is the first comprehensive overview and analysis of the politics of egg donation across the United States Family Building Through Egg and Sperm Donation Machel M. Seibel, Susan L.
