Big Data for Big Decisions Krishna Pera,2022-12-30 Building a data driven organization DDO is an enterprise wide initiative that may consume and lock up resources for the long term Understandably any organization considering such an initiative would insist on a roadmap and business case to be prepared and evaluated prior to approval This book presents a step by step methodology in order to create a roadmap and business case and provides a narration of the constraints and experiences of managers who have attempted the setting up of DDOs The emphasis is on the big decisions the key decisions that influence 90% of business outcomes starting from decision first and reengineering the data to the decisions process chain and data governance so as to ensure the right data are available at the right time every time Investing in artificial intelligence and data driven decision making are now being considered a survival necessity for organizations to stay competitive While every enterprise aspires to become 100% data driven and every Chief Information Officer CIO has a budget Gartner estimates over 80% of all analytics projects fail to deliver intended value Most CIOs think a data driven organization is a distant dream especially while they are still struggling to explain the value from analytics They know a few isolated successes or a one time leveraging of big data for decision making does not make an organization data driven As of now there is no precise definition for data driven organization or what qualifies an organization to call itself data driven Given the hype in the market for big data analytics and AI every CIO has a budget for analytics but very little clarity on where to begin or how to choose and prioritize the analytics projects Most end up investing in a visualization platform like Tableau or QlikView which in essence is an improved version of their BI dashboard that the organization had invested into not too long ago The most important stakeholders the decision makers are rarely kept in the loop while choosing analytics projects This book provides a fail safe methodology for assured success in deriving intended value from investments into analytics It is a practitioners handbook for creating a step by step transformational roadmap prioritizing the big data for the big decisions the 10% of decisions that influence 90% of business outcomes and delivering material improvements in the quality of decisions as well as measurable value from analytics investments The acid test for a data driven organization is when all the big decisions especially top level strategic decisions are taken based on data and not on the collective gut feeling of the decision makers in the organization Database System Concepts (Volume 2) N.B. search engines and hosted online communities This dissertation facilitates democratization of data publishing and efficient search with powerful full text queries over the community global collection by means of a novel distributed framework that disseminate queries in online communities We address two challenging issues that arise in this context the design of distributed access methods to publishers and the evaluation of expressive queries i e XML full text locally at the publisher thereof First given the virtual nature of the global data collection we study the problem of efficiently discovering publishers in the community that contain documents matching a user query We call such peers relevant publishers We propose a novel distributed infrastructure in which data resides only with the publishers owning it The infrastructure disseminates user queries to publishers who answer them at their own discretion under data location anonymity constraints That is the query forwarding infrastructure prevents leaking information about which publishers are capable of answering a certain query Second once queries reach relevant publishers we study how they efficiently process the incoming queries over their local repositories Given that the commonly used data model for information exchange on the Web is semi structured e g XML we propose algorithms for the evaluation and optimization of expressive XML queries that integrate structured and full text search including the W3C XQuery Full Text standard Beginning XML Joe Fawcett,Danny Ayers,Liam R.
