Play Among Books Miro Roman,Alice_ch3n81,2021-12-06 How does coding change the way we think about architecture This question opens up an important research perspective In this book Miro Roman and his AI Alice_ch3n81 develop a playful scenario in which they propose coding as the new literacy of information They convey knowledge in the form of a project model that links the fields of architecture and information through two interwoven narrative strands in an infinite flow of real books Focusing on the intersection of information technology and architectural formulation the authors create an evolving intellectual reflection on digital architecture and computer science

The Pathology of Desire in

Daphne du Maurier's Short Stories Setara Pracha,2023-01-09 Following a resurgence of interest in Daphne du Maurier's writing The Pathology of Desire in Daphne du Maurier's Short Stories offers an overview of all her collections and a detailed reading of nine stories These contain recurrent references to the incomplete or impaired human form and are best read through a corporeal lens The criticism illustrates her importance as a cultural commentator fascinated by the results of frustrated human desire and includes a synopsis of the published collections and the stories within them to give the reader a sense of the variety of the overarching themes and the persistent force of corporeality in the stories Du Maurier is well known as a novelist but her short fiction is pivotal to understanding her position and influence as a writer She rewrites fairytales and foregrounds female violence long before it became a cultural trend

A Twisted Style Maja Tabea

Jerrentrup,2021-05-14 In western cultures some people have chosen a dreadlock hairstyle despite many in mainstream society looking at it in a negative light This book deals with contradictions surrounding the hairstyle such as often representing a protest against the prevailing right wing political systems yet also emphasizing the white person's power to appropriate any style Based on interviews and close observations in social media the book offers insights into the culture's surrounding dreadlocks and ultimately interprets the phenomenon as a postmodern form of individuality

Ugliness Gretchen E. Henderson,2015-11-15 Ugly as sin the ugly duckling or maybe you fell out of the ugly tree Let's face it we've all used the word ugly to describe someone we've seen hopefully just in our private thoughts but have we ever considered how slippery the term can be indicating anything from the slightly unsightly to the downright revolting

What really lurks behind this most favored insult In this actually beautiful book Gretchen E Henderson casts an unfazed gaze at ugliness tracing its long standing grasp on our cultural imagination and highlighting all the peculiar ways it has attracted us to its repulsion Henderson explores the ways we have perceived ugliness throughout history from ancient Roman feasts to medieval grotesque gargoyles from Mary Shelley's Frankenstein to the Nazi Exhibition of Degenerate Art Covering literature art music and even the cutest possible incarnation of the term Uglydolls she reveals how ugliness has long posed a challenge to aesthetics and taste She moves beyond the traditional philosophic argument that simply places ugliness in opposition to beauty in order to dismantle just what we mean when we say ugly Following ugly things wherever they have trod she traverses continents and centuries to delineate the changing map of ugliness and the profound effects it has had on the public imagination littering her path with one fascinating tidbit after another Lovingly illustrated with the foulest images from art history and culture Ugliness offers an oddly refreshing perspective going past the surface to ask what ugly truly is even as its meaning continues to shift Interdisciplinary Approaches to Disability Katie Ellis, Rosemarie

Garland-Thomson, Mike Kent, Rachel Robertson, 2018-12-12 How can a deep engagement with disability studies change our understanding of sociology literary studies gender studies aesthetics bioethics social work law education or history Interdisciplinary Approaches to Disability the companion volume to Manifestos for the Future of Critical Disability Studies identifies both the practical and theoretical implications of such an interdisciplinary dialogue and challenges people in disability studies as well as other disciplinary fields to critically reflect on their professional praxis in terms of theory practice and methods Topics covered include interdisciplinary outlooks ranging from media studies games studies education performance history and curation through to theology and immunology Perspectives are drawn from different regions from the European Union to the Global South with chapters that draw on a range of different national backgrounds Our contributors who write as either disabled people or allies do not proceed from a singular approach to disability often reflecting different or even opposing positions The collection features contributions from both established and new voices in international disability studies outlining their own visions for the future of the field Interdisciplinary Approaches to Disability will be of interest to all scholars and students working within the fields of disability studies cultural studies sociology law history and education The concerns raised here are further in Manifestos for the Future of Critical Disability Studies

The Western Humanities Review, 2016 Beauty is a Verb Jennifer Bartlett, Sheila Fiona Black, Michael Northen, 2011 Beauty is a Verb is the first of its kind a high quality anthology of poetry by American poets with physical disabilities Poems and essays alike consider how poetry coupled with the experience of disability speaks to the poetics of each poet included The collection explores first the precursors whose poems had a complex and sometimes absent relationship with disability such as Vassar Miller Larry Eigner and Josephine Miles It continues with poets who have generated the Crip Poetics Movement such as Petra Kuppers Kenny Fries and Jim Ferris Finally the collection explores the work of poets who don't necessarily subscribe to the identity of crip poetics and have never before been published in this exact context These poets include Bernadette Mayer Rusty Morrison Cynthia Hogue and C S Giscombe The book crosses poetry movements from narrative to language poetry and speaks to and about a number of disabilities including cerebral palsy deafness blindness multiple sclerosis and aphasia due to stroke among others Provided by publisher Romantic Autopsy Arden Hegele,2021-11-25 Today we do not expect a symptomatic reading to refer to bodily symptoms or a literary dissection to be more than metaphorical But this was not always true In Romantic Autopsy Arden Hegele considers a moment at the turn of the nineteenth century when literature and medicine seemed embattled in rivalry to find that the two fields collaborated to develop interpretive analogies that saw literary texts as organic bodies and anatomical features as legible texts Together Romantic readers and doctors elaborated protocols of diagnosis practices for interpretation that could be used to diagnose disease and to understand fiction and poetry This volume puts essential works of British Romantic literature that seem at first to have little to do with medicine such as the lyrics of William Wordsworth the elegies of Percy Shelley and Alfred Tennyson and the novels of Mary Wollstonecraft Jane Austen and Mary Shelley back into conversation with emergent medical disciplines of the period anatomy pathology psychiatry and semiology Poems and novels Hegele argues were historically understood through techniques designed for the analysis of disease meanwhile autopsy reports and case histories adopted stylistic features associated with literature Countering the assumption of a growing specialization in Romanticism these practices suggest that symptomatic reading treating a text's superficial signs as evidence of deeper meaning a practice still used and debated today might have originated from Romantic diagnostics The first study of the interconnected literary and medical analytics of British Romanticism Romantic Autopsy charts an important history underlying our own approaches to literary analysis

Life in the Tar Seeps Gretchen Ernster Henderson,2023-04-25 At Great Salt Lake near Robert Smithson's iconic earthwork Spiral Jetty a motley crew of scientists walks the mudflats to study fossils in the making This reputedly dead sea is home to tar seeps pools of raw oil nicknamed death traps that act as a preservative encasing organisms as they were in life In this spare landscape an intricate web of life unfurls Halophiles salt hungry microorganisms tint the brackish water pink and orange crystals of gypsum stud the ground glistening underfoot and pelicans and other migratory birds stop for a crucial rest Barn owls and seagulls flirt with their prey around the seeping constellations sometimes falling prey to the oil themselves Gretchen Henderson came to the tar seeps a kind of natural asphalt after recovering from being hit by a car as she walked in a crosswalk a manmade asphalt Like the spiraling artwork that made Great Salt Lake's north shore famous Henderson's associations of life and death degeneration and regeneration and injury and healing coalesced As she reexamined pressing issues that this delicate area revealed about the climate crisis her sense of ecology spiraled into other ways of perceiving the lake's entangled lives How do we move beyond narrow concepts of wounded and healed the beautiful and the ugly to care for ecosystems that evolve over time How do we confront our vulnerability to recognize kindred dynamics in our living planet

Through shifting lake levels bird migrations microbial studies environmental arts and cultural histories shaped by indigenous knowledges and colonial legacies Life in the Tar Seeps contemplates the ways that others have understood this body of water enlivening more than this region alone As Henderson witnesses scientists arts curators land managers and students working collaboratively to steward a challenging place she grows to see the lake not as dead but as a watershed for shifting perceptions of any overlooked place offering a meditation on environmental healing across the planet Henderson interweaves her journey with her own vivid photographs of tar seeps and pelican death assemblages historic maps and contemporary art as a wayfinding guide for exploring places of our own
