Niels Beerepoot,Bart Lambregts,Jana Kleibert,2016-07-28 Following drastic shifts in the spatial organization of goods production increasingly fierce competition now forces firms also to look critically at how to organize the production of services While digitization and advances in information and communication technologies have enabled firms to unbundle service production processes the increased global availability of skilled labour allows for the relocation of ever more of these processes around the world As a result a new geography of services production takes shape a geography that is defined by new interregional and international divisions of labour and held together by increasingly complex global services production networks This book examines how the reorganisation of services production alters relations between and generates different sets of challenges and opportunities for economic development in the Global North and the Global South Drawing from 11 case studies probing various aspects of services production in different parts of the world the book brings out the remarkable heterogeneity and transformative capacities of services It successively shows how global trade in services creates new interdependencies between services producing and services consuming regions reveals how services help to mitigate the impact of and contribute to recovery from economic crises in the Global North and demonstrates how services offshoring fosters economic development and service sector driven modernisation processes in the Global South The book's openness to the heterogeneous and dynamic nature of services production enlarges our understanding of which particular services in which spatiotemporal context have the capacity to generate good jobs contribute to productivity and drive economic growth The book stands out from other books in the field in that it combines perspectives on services driven transformations from both the Global North and the Global South and looks into the role of various services segments Based on pioneering empirical research and original data it offers a timely contribution to this growing debate The book provides valuable insights for students scholars and professionals interested in services services offshoring services driven growth and socioeconomic transformations in the Global North and South

National Conceptualisations of the Body Politic Andreas Musolff,2020-11-09 This book presents the results of a large scale experiment into interpretations of the metaphor the Nation as a Body among 1 800 respondents from 30 linguistic and cultural backgrounds In this first account of an empirical study of cross cultural global metaphor interpretation of that scale Musolff confirms that the meanings of metaphors are complex culturally mediated and may differ for senders and recipients The book provides a historical and cultural map of the traditions underlying differences in how the nation as a body or the body politic is understood Musolff challenges the hypotheses of the universality of the nation as a predominantly male gendered and hierarchically organized concept and in so doing puts into question some of the key presuppositions of traditional historical and cognitive approaches to metaphor. For scholars and students of figurative language the book lays out methodological foundations for cross-cultural metaphor comparison and reveals hidden meaning differences in political metaphor in English as lingua franca. McGraw Hill's Atlas of World Events John Logan Allen, 2005 McGraw Hill's Atlas of World Events goes beyond the where of today's world to offer a vivid in-depth picture of the current state of the planet and human civilization. National Geographic Collegiate Atlas of the World National Geographic Society (U.S.), 2006 This compact, easy-to-use atlas offers the convenience of smaller scale without sacrificing clarity or detail; instead, identically scaled maps on a given continent enable readers to compare physical, political, and regional information simply and accurately.
