ORION
 CODING & MARKING SOFTWARE

PRINTING MADE EASY

MODERN DAY MESSAGE CREATION

The Orion Graphical Package allows users to easily connect to Serial or Industrial printers and create and edit messages from a Windows® PC. The Windows® message creation platform provides the functionality and intuitivity that today's applications require.

DON'T LIMIT YOUR CONNECTIONS

The Orion Graphical software is printer station oriented, not printer oriented. Messages can be created from any serial print station and then used for printing using an Ethernet connection or transmitted using a USB primary interface. Orion Hardware automatically printer adaptation that allows the software to find all Serial or Industrial printers connected to the network. There is no limit on the number of printer connections from a PC running Orion software with an unlimited printer network, giving more power to the user. Both Serial, eth networks and phone networks can be programmed from the same print station.

USE WHAT YOU KNOW

Orion's message day interface handles a Microsoft-Office® version 95, PC style operation, and easy to use Windows® message creation. Orion message creation features include major shortcuts, undo/redo, multiple line text editing, automatic and full spacing, automatic indent, and much more. Orion also supports multiple languages allowing users to switch from one language to another without the need for a reboot.

DATABASE CONNECTIVITY WITH DACE

Connecting to a database is no problem with Orion's Tier III software. Orion's Tier III Database Server Software is used to create dynamic messages from a template. The message is generated with data retrieved from a particular database table. This is typically used when printing labels on all the same message. Orion's Tier III AutoData Server Software is used when generating data fields from a database, but AutoData is typically used when printing just one message at a time. A real message application is an example of when AutoData would be used.

DESIGN AND PRINT WHAT YOU WANT

Don't let your messages be restricted by your software. Orion's powerful message creation format makes it easier to design and print the messages you want. Orion Hardware. That's just part of our support, multiple user administration and other world famous including better status and real-time status, Name numbering, tags file support, all standard Orion an ID bar code format, and more. See today why more and more companies are relying on Serial to be provide the right solution for their marking and coding needs.
