Morning Routine Ideas Returns:

You Have to Say Something Dainin Katagiri, 2000-01-04 Dainin Katagiri 1928 1990 was a central figure in the transmission of Zen in America. His first book Returning to Silence emphasized the need to return to our original enlightened state of being and became one of the classics of Zen in America. In You Have to Say Something selections from his talks have been collected to address another key theme of Katagiri's teaching: that of bringing Zen insight to bear on our everyday experience. To live life fully, Katagiri says, means to take care of your life day by day, moment to moment, right here, right now. To do this, he teaches, we must plunge into our life completely, bringing to it the same wholeheartedness that is required in Zen meditation. When we approach life in this way, every activity, everything we do, everything we say, becomes an opportunity for manifesting our own innate wisdom. With extraordinary freshness and immediacy, Katagiri shows the reader how this wisdom not only enlivens our spiritual practice but can help make our life a rich, seamless whole.

Return to Creemore Creek Derek Jenkins, Two years ago while on their summer vacation the Jones children were a part of an amazing adventure with a colourful group of scholars and mystics one that culminated in their releasing a group of children who had been cursed to endlessly relive a single day for over three hundred years inside a one room schoolhouse With those children free and adopted into the families of those who had released them everyone thought their mission was complete Little did they know that it was only the beginning and that by breaking that spell they had unleashed a potential catastrophe on the natural timeline Now it's up to the Jones children and their friends to find the answers they need and undo the damage they unwittingly caused even if that means travelling to its source three hundred years in the past
