Mountain Geoeology And Sustainable Development Of The Tibetan Plateau Geojournal Library:

Mountain Geoeology and Sustainable Development of the Tibetan Plateau Du Zheng,Qingsong Zhang,Shaohong Wu,2000 Audience The book is geared to the needs of policy makers geographers professors environmental managers and researchers at a graduate level Jacket The Sustainability of Rural Systems I.R. Bowler,C.R. Bryant,C.

Cocklin,2002-03-31 This book examines the interaction of the dimensions of economy society and environment in the context of rural systems It embraces a wide range of topics including globalization and reregulation in sustainable food production conservation and sustainability the development of sustainable rural communities and sustainable rural urban interaction It is relevant to advanced level students teachers researchers policymakers and agency workers Enterprising Worlds Jay D. Gatrell,Neil Reid,2007-05-16 Enterprising World represents the culmination of several years of work by geographers planners and economists The chapters represent the collective efforts of the International Geographical Union's Commission on the Dynamics of Economic Spaces This collection is the result of the 2005 annual meeting in Toledo Ohio USA The chapters have been selected based on their contribution to the broader community of economic geographers and policymakers and to demonstrate the inherent interconnectedness of these themes and at times the conceptual tension that exists between ethics economics and the environment insofar as these important issues shape the contours and cleavages of contemporary regional development In particular the chapters represent the diversity of perspectives on these issues The authors provide insight into the workings of a variety of communities regions and nations as they seek to balance economic growth with the growing necessity to simultaneously promote ethical and sustainable regional development As such this book is truly international in both scale and scope and provides the reader with a survey of emerging and established concepts theories and conflicts in economic geography Solid Waste Management and Recycling Isa Baud,Johan Post,Christine Furedy,2006-04-11 This book is for practising professionals and academics working in urban planning and international development international project staff trainers urban development researchers and teaching staff in universities and polytechnics Solid Waste Management and Recycling is unique in that it utilizes an integrated solid waste management perspective in its analysis provides embedded case study data deals with both formal and informal actors and institutional arrangements in solid waste management and recycling has chapters written by experts from the countries concerned Kenya and India can be used in graduate level courses in urban development urban management and planning and technical engineering courses for students project staff and technical students Learning from Clusters Ron A. Boschma,Robert C. Kloosterman,2006-03-30 Jan Lambooy retired in October 2002 When Jan was asked how he wanted to celebrate this occasion he was adamant that no great festivities should take place Characteristically Jan wanted just a scientific conference so he could learn something from it and as he insisted no great festivities So that is what we did and a conference was organised in Amsterdam on 25 October 2002 hosted by the Faculty of Economics and Econometrics of the University of Amsterdam Friends of Jan s from academia in the Netherlands and abroad participated and thus paid homage to Jan both as a scientist and as a person We are now very proud to present this festschrift firstly as the palpable result of this conference and secondly as a token of sincere respect and great affection for Jan Edited volumes run the danger of being a hotchpotch of contributions on a wide variety of topics Here we have explicitly focused on a central theme in contemporary economic geography and regional science namely the relationship between learning innovation and clustering Internationally renowned scientists made both theoretical and empirical contributions to this volume We think this book constitutes a broad palette of contemporary thinking and research on the relationship between spatial concentration and innovation and hope it will play a significant role in future debates on this issue

Dynamic Trip Modelling

Robert G.V. Baker,2006-08-05 The thesis of this book is that there are one set of equations that can define any trip between an origin and destination The idea originally came from work that I did when applying the hydrodynamic analogy to study congested traffic flows in 1981 However I was disappointed to find out that much of the mathematical work had already been done decades earlier When I looked for a new application I realised that shopping centre demand could be like a longitudinal wave governed by centre opening and closing times Further a solution to the differential equation was the gravity model and this suggested that time was somehow part of distance decay This was published in 1985 and represented a different approach to spatial interaction modelling The next step was to translate the abstract theory into something that could be tested empirically To this end I am grateful to my Ph D supervisor Professor Barry Garner who taught me that it is not sufficient just to have a theoretical model This book is an outcome of this on going quest to look at how the evolution of the model performs against real world data This is a far more difficult process than numerical simulations but the results have been more valuable to policy formulation and closer to what I think is spatial science The testing and application of the model required the compilation of shopping centre surveys and an Internet data set

Plant Diversity Patterns and Drivers

Qing Zhang,Gang Feng ,Jinliang Liu,2024-09-20 Biodiversity can provide a series of important ecosystem functions and ecosystem services which meet the needs of human beings Plants are the biological group with the highest carbon content on earth their diversity has attracted increased attention The interpretation of plant diversity patterns and drivers is crucial for the conservation and utilization of plant resources and is also one of the hot topics in plant science and ecology There are already many studies on the patterns and drivers of plant diversity including different diversity dimensions e g taxonomic phylogenetic and functional diversity and spatial scales different plots sites watershed country continent and globe The mechanisms underlying plant diversity patterns are also quite complex For example many hypotheses are related to contemporary climate and soil conditions with temperature precipitation and soil nutrient being the most discussed drivers In addition paleoclimate and geological events may also have a strong legacy on current plant diversity patterns Except for these natural factors many anthropogenic activities including agriculture deforestation grazing urbanization and coal mining are also important drivers of plant diversity These anthropogenic activities can affect plant diversity patterns not only directly but also indirectly through their effects on habitat loss and habitat fragmentation. Therefore the current plant diversity patterns are the result of many interacting factors and need to be interpreted from a more comprehensive perspective. This Research Topic will therefore provide a platform for sufficient communication aiming to integrate the research from different fields and deepen the understanding of the patterns and drivers of plant diversity. We encourage the submission of theoretical and experimental studies on different plant groups such as seed plants, ferns, mosses and algae. Studies based on new methods and technology such as genomics and drones are also welcomed. We welcome the following specific topics:

Effects of historical factors such as paleoclimate geological events on plant diversity
Plant diversity that is driven by contemporary climate and anthropogenic activities
The effect of habitat loss and fragmentation on plant diversity
New methods of research on the patterns and drivers of plant diversity
Soil and Climate Rattan Lal, B. A. Stewart, 2018-09-03
Climate is a soil forming factor and soil can mitigate climate change through a reduction in the emissions of greenhouse gases and sequestration of atmospheric CO₂. Thus there is a growing interest in soil management practices capable of mitigating climate change and enhancing environmental quality. Soil and Climate addresses global issues through soil management and outlines strategies for advancing Sustainable Development Goals SDGs. This volume in the Advances in Soil Science series is specifically devoted to describe state of the knowledge regarding the climate soil nexus in relation to Soil Processes, weathering, decomposition of organic matter, erosion, leaching, salinization, biochemical transformations, gaseous flux and elemental cycling. Soil Properties, physical, chemical, biological and ecological Atmospheric Chemistry, gaseous concentrations of CO₂, CH₄, N₂O, water vapors, soot, dust and particulate matter. Mitigation and Adaptation, source and sink of GHGs, CO₂, CH₄, N₂O, land use and soil management, soil C sink capacity, permafrost. Soil Management, sequestration of organic and inorganic C, nutrient requirements, water demands, coupled cycling of H₂O, N, P, S and Policy and Outreach, carbon farming, payments for ecosystem services, COP21, SDGs, land degradation, neutrality. Special topics on soil as a source or sink of CO₂, silicate weathering and carbon sequestration, nutrients required for carbon sequestration, physical protection and the mean resident time and predicting soil carbon stocks are discussed in detail throughout the book.

The Oceans: Key Issues in Marine Affairs Hance D. Smith, 2004-11-04
The oceans provide a great challenge for the development and management of planet earth by humankind. This book covers new approaches to the development of the law of the sea, the division of the oceans among states and new thinking on institutions in depth.
