Transitions to Alternative Vehicles and Fuels National Research Council,Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences,Board on Energy and Environmental Systems,Committee on Transitions to Alternative Vehicles and Fuels,2013-04-14 For a century almost all light duty vehicles LDVs have been powered by internal combustion engines operating on petroleum fuels Energy security concerns about petroleum imports and the effect of greenhouse gas GHG emissions on global climate are driving interest in alternatives Transitions to Alternative Vehicles and Fuels assesses the potential for reducing petroleum consumption and GHG emissions by 80 percent across the U S LDV fleet by 2050 relative to 2005 This report examines the current capability and estimated future performance and costs for each vehicle type and non petroleum based fuel technology as options that could significantly contribute to these goals By analyzing scenarios that combine various fuel and vehicle pathways the report also identifies barriers to implementation of these technologies and suggests policies to achieve the desired reductions Several scenarios are promising but strong and effective policies such as research and development subsidies energy taxes or regulations will be necessary to overcome barriers such as cost and consumer choice

Operational concepts for grid services using electric vehicles Hamza Riaz Bokhari,2020-01-01 This thesis deals with the challenges to frequency stability in the European electricity grid posed by the increasing share of renewable energy resources and electric vehicles It evaluates European load frequency control systems for their suitability for integration of electric vehicles and the impact of increase in photovoltaic and wind power on frequency stability for the case of Germany demonstrating a consequent significant increase in frequency control reserve requirements Evaluation of alternative approaches to load frequency control shows that introduction of an aggregator of distributed energy resources can also significantly reduce the overall infrastructure requirements for grid operators The operational concepts herein proposed are evaluated using several case studies for optimizing the use of electric vehicles for grid flexibility services by taking into account the user behavior of vehicle owners and supply requirements of these grid services
