Marketing by Contingency in the Time of COVID-19 Alicia de la Peña, Juan Bernardo Amezcuá Nuñez, 2022-12-29

Marketing by Contingency in the Time of Covid 19 Overcoming Business Crises and Meeting Marketing Challenges provides conceptual and empirical evidence from a marketing and business perspective about how firms and nonprofit organizations in developing countries have coped with the Covid 19 pandemic. The Covid 19 pandemic became not only a health threat but also a business threat and challenge. This book analyzes successful and failed marketing strategies that have been implemented by renowned and emerging firms and nonprofit organizations in reaction to the unprecedented market situation caused by the Covid 19 pandemic. Using case studies the chapters identify the elements that were critical for strengthening a product or company's brand value consumer satisfaction and loyalty during this time of crisis and uncertainty. The information and experiences shared here show how organizations learned to be resilient and reacted to challenging market situations using creativity and innovation to present consumers with prompt solutions to cover their most basic needs. Topics cover brand engagement influencer marketing building consumer trust navigating restrictive conditions using analytics and predictive modeling internal marketing and more. Key features: Presents and assesses strategies to react to business challenges both economic and social. Provides conceptual and empirical evidence on how to deliver value to consumers in times of uncertainty. Shows the reality faced by businesses and nonprofit organizations when a crisis emerges. Evaluates the critical role of social media and e-commerce as strategic resources to help business and nonprofit organizations survive and even grow during a crisis. Examines the role of internal marketing during a pandemic. The successes and failures of the marketing strategies discussed in this volume will aid professors and students business leaders marketing professionals public relations professionals and others in identifying the processes needed to overcome business and social troubles during periods of crisis.

Intersectionality, Political Economy, and Media Carolyn M. Byerly, 2024-07-30 This textbook considers the critical relationship between gender race and class and the political economy of media providing an accessible introduction for students. Carolyn M. Byerly integrates gender race and class analysis in posing an intersectional political economy (IPE) of media theory and demonstrates how that theory applies in examining communication laws policies technology and other aspects of media today. By synthesizing feminist and critical race theories with more traditional class analysis this book offers a unified approach to examining the media. Individual chapters delve into communication policy ownership governance labor and technology issues with a concluding chapter that explores future research. The book situates citizen challenges to the media's control by a small power elite within a dialectic of struggle and highlights specific campaigns that have pursued successful policy and media reform. Several short case studies by other authors illustrate how an IPE investigation can be undertaken. This is a key text for undergraduate and graduate media and communication courses such as Media and Society Political Economy of Media Gender Race and Media Research Methods and more. It will also
