Myth And Metropolis Walter Benjamin And The City:

Myth and Metropolis Graeme Gilloch, 2013-04-30 This is a lucid study of Walter Benjamin's lifelong fascination with the city and forms of metropolitan experience highlighting the relevance of Benjamin's work to our contemporary understanding of modernity

After the Cosmopolitan? Michael Keith, 2005 In this book Michael Keith argues that both racial divisions and intercultural dialogue can only be understood in the context of the urban cities that gave them birth and considers how race is played out in the world's most eminent cities

Debunking the Myths of Colonization Samar Attar, 2010-04-13 This book examines the paradoxical nature of colonialism and its horrific impact on the psyche of the colonized It probes Frantz Fanon's theories concerning the relationship between colonizers and the colonized It attempts to apply these theories to modern Arabic literature

Walter Benjamin, Remembrance, and the First World War Martin Jay, 1996

Global Perspectives on Critical Architecture Gevork Hartoonian, 2016-03-03 Judging from the debates taking place in both education and practice it appears that architecture is deeply in crisis New design and production techniques together with the globalization of capital and even skilled labour have reduced architecture to a commodified object its aesthetic qualities tapping into the current pervasive desire for the spectacular These developments have changed the architect's role in the design and production processes of architecture Moreover critical architectural theories including those of Breton Heidegger and Benjamin which explored the concepts of technology modernism labour and capital and how technology informed the cultural along with later theories from the 1960s which focused more on the architect's theorization of his/her own design strategies seem increasingly irrelevant In an age of digital reproduction and commodification these theoretical approaches need to be reassessed Bringing together essays and interviews from leading scholars such as Kenneth Frampton Peggy Deamer Bernard Tschumi Donald Kunze and Marco Biraghi this volume investigates and critically addresses various dimensions of the present crisis of architecture It poses questions such as Is architecture a conservative cultural product servicing a given producer-consumer system Should architecture's affiliative ties with capitalism be subjected to a measure of criticism that can be expanded to the entirety of the cultural realm Is architecture's infusion into the cultural the reason for the visibility of architecture today What room does the city leave for architecture beyond the present delirium of spectacle Should the thematic of various New Left criticisms of capitalism be taken as the premise of architectural criticism Or alternatively putting the notion of criticality aside is it enough to confine criticism to the production of insightful and pleasurable texts

Rethinking Architecture Neil Leach, 2005-12-20 Brought together for the first time the seminal writing on architecture by key philosophers and cultural theorist of the twentieth century Issues around the built environment are increasingly central to the study of the social sciences and humanities The essays offer a refreshing take on the question of architecture and provocatively rethink many of the accepted tenets of architecture theory from a broader cultural perspective The book represents a careful selection of the very best theoretical writings on the ideas which have shaped our cities and our experiences of architecture As such Rethinking Architecture provides invaluable core source material for students on a range of courses Shopping Malls and Public Space in Modern China Nicholas Jewell, 2016-03-03 China's rise as an economic superpower has been inescapable Statistical hyperbole has been accompanied by a plethora of highly publicized architectural forms that brand the regeneration of its increasingly globalized urban centres Despite the sizeable body of literature that has accompanied China's modernization the essence and trajectory of its contemporary cityscape remains difficult to grasp This volume addresses a less explored aspect of China's urban rejuvenation the prominence of the shopping mall as a keystone of its public spaces Here the presence of the built form most representative of Western capitalism's excess is one that makes explicit the tensions between China's Communist state and its ascent within the free market This book examines how these interrelationships are manifested in the culturally hybrid built form of the shopping mall and its role in contesting the public space of the modern Chinese city By viewing these interrelationships as collisions of global and local narratives a more nuanced understanding of the shopping mall typology is explored Much architectural criticism has failed to address the levels of meaning implicit within the shopping mall yet it is a building type whose public popularity has guaranteed its endurance Consequently if architecture is to remain a relevant social art a more holistic understanding of this phenomenon will be indispensable to the process of adapting to globalizing forces This examination of Chinese shopping malls offers a timely and relevant case study of what is happening in all our cities today Journal of Narrative Theory ,2003 Cultural studies critical theory poststructuralism feminist theory new historicism Discourse ,2010 Sociology ,2000 American Book Publishing Record ,2005 Nineteenth Century Theatre ,1998

Simmel on Culture Georg Simmel, 1997 This volume brings together for the first time a wide range of essays on culture and related themes by the sociologist and philosopher Georg Simmel 1858-1918 Simmel is now recognized as one of the leading social theorists active in Europe in the early part of the 20th century This unique collection enables the reader to engage with the full range of Simmel's dazzling contributions to the study of culture The collection opens with Simmel's most basic essays on defining culture its changes and its crisis These are followed by more specific explorations of the culture of face to face interactions spatial and urban culture leisure culture the culture of money and commodities the culture of belief and the politics of female culture The collection includes a large number of previously untranslated essays together with others that are not readily available The result is an unparalleled introduction to Simmel on culture The book not only provides a missing piece in the history of cultural study it also reveals a new way of studying culture It will be essential reading for students of cultural studies and sociology From publisher Leos Carax Fergus Daly, Garin Dowd, 2003 The first book in any language to study the films of this enfant terrible of contemporary French cinema best known for his film Les Amants du Pont Neuf Examines key ingredients in the worlds of Carax's films Paris pop music flânerie and amour fou mannerist and neo baroque aesthetics the Nouvelle Vague and contemporary naturalist cinema making the book a good primer of contemporary French film and culture Draws on a variety of intellectual sources such as the philosophy of Deleuze film criticism theory of art and literary monographs Argues that the recent history of maverick mannerist and baroque auteurs from Ruiz Rivette to Garrel and Techine and their explorations of the powers of the false are key to Carax s cinema Examines Carax s contribution to the strand of cinema which is focused on chance and destiny from Wong Kar Wai and David Lynch to films such as Serendipity and Sliding doors The Cinematic Life of the Gene Jackie Stacey,2010-04-02 A leading feminist film theorist argues that the cinema animates the tropes of and enacts our fears about cloning and other kinds of genetic engineering The Architects' Journal ,1996 The Rhizomatic West Neil Campbell,2008 Neil Campbell analyses the American West as a constantly moving mutating idea within a complex global culture Exploring Site-specific Art Judith Rugg,2010-02-28 Site specific art is mushrooming across the world This book contains an illustrated exploration of international site specific artworks Consuming Audiences? Ingunn Hagen,Janet Wasko,2000 This text explores the intersection between research in political economy and reception analysis the interaction between media production and audience reception consumption Questions asked include what role does textual analysis play in the study of production contexts and audiences reception Phantom Memories Isela Ocegueda,2010
