Online Cataloging Classification Introduction Lois Chan:

Cataloging and Classification Lois Mai Chan, Theodora Hodges, 2007 Cataloging and Classification Third Edition is a text for beginning students and a tool for practicing cataloging personnel. All chapters have been rewritten in this latest edition to incorporate recent developments, particularly the tremendous impact metadata and the Web have had on cataloging and classification.

Cataloging and Classification Lois Mai Chan, Athena Salaba, 2015-12-14 The fourth edition of the late Lois Mai Chan's classic Cataloging and Classification covers the analysis and representation of methods used in describing, organizing, and providing access to resources made available in or through libraries. Since the last edition published in 2007, there have been dramatic changes in cataloging systems from the Library of Congress. The most notable being the shift from AACR2 to Resource Description and Access (RDA) as the new standard developed by the Library of Congress. With the help of the coauthor Athena Salaba, this text is modified throughout to conform to the new standard. Retaining the overall outline of the previous edition, this text presents the essence of library cataloging and classification in terms of three basic functions: descriptive cataloging, subject access, and classification. Within this framework, all chapters have been rewritten to incorporate the changes that have occurred during the interval between the third and fourth editions. In each part, the historical development and underlying principles of the retrieval mechanism at issue are treated first because these are considered essential to an understanding of cataloging and classification. Discussion and examples of provisions in the standards and tools are then presented in order to illustrate the operations covered in each chapter. Divided into five parts: a general overview, record production and structure, encoding formats and metadata records, RDA subject access and controlled vocabularies, and the organization of library resources, each part of the book begins with a list of the standards and tools used in the preparation and processing of that part of the cataloging record, covered followed by suggested background readings selected to help the reader gain an overview of the subject to be presented. This book is the standard text for the teaching and understanding of cataloging and classification.

Wynar's Introduction to Cataloging and Classification Arlene G. Taylor, 2004 Taylor Information Sciences, U of Pittsburgh explains the principles of cataloging and classification of library materials. Some of the areas covered include machine-readable cataloging, Library of Congress subject headings, authority control, and catalog management. This revised edition contains a replacement for Part III, Description and Access, of the ninth edition that takes into account the 2002 edition of the Anglo-American Cataloguing Rules. A glossary of terms and additional information on filing rules are found in the appendix.

Education and Training for Catalogers and Classifiers Ruth C. Carter, 1987 Education and Training for Catalogers and Classifiers discusses the education of librarians, particularly the teaching of cataloging as part of that education. It argues that relevant, high-quality library education and on-the-job training programs are necessary in preparing librarians to meet the challenges of understanding the issues of bibliographic control and relating a library's catalog to regional, national, and international bibliographic databases.

and Classification Daniel N. Joudrey, Arlene G. Taylor, David P. Miller, 2015-09-29 A new edition of this best selling textbook reintroduces the topic of library cataloging from a fresh modern perspective Not many books merit an eleventh edition but this popular text does Newly updated Introduction to Cataloging and Classification provides an introduction to descriptive cataloging based on contemporary standards explaining the basic tenets to readers without previous experience as well as to those who merely want a better understanding of the process as it exists today The text opens with the foundations of cataloging then moves to specific details and subject matter such as Functional Requirements for Bibliographic Records FRBR Functional Requirements for Authority Data FRAD the International Cataloging Principles ICP and RDA Unlike other texts the book doesn't presume a close familiarity with the MARC bibliographic or authorities formats ALA's Anglo American Cataloging Rules 2nd Edition revised AACR2R or the International Standard Bibliographic Description ISBD Subject access to library materials is covered in sufficient depth to make the reader comfortable with the principles and practices of subject cataloging and classification In addition the book introduces MARC BIBFRAME and other approaches used to communicate and display bibliographic data Discussions of formatting presentation and administrative issues complete the book questions useful for review and study appear at the end of each chapter Introduction to Cataloging and Classification Bohdan S. Wynar, Arlene G. Taylor, 1992 After 25 years of service this professional text has been updated in line with developments in the field of library science Improving LCSH for Use in Online Catalogs Pauline Atherton Cochrane, 1986

Classification Made Simple Eric J. Hunter, 2002 An ability to classify is a fundamental requisite of everyday life Classification is also a vital element in information management This established textbook introduces the essentials of classification as used for information storage and retrieval By adopting a gradual progression from very basic principles and by providing practical examples it enables the reader to gain a firm grasp of one idea before proceeding to the next In information work classification may be used in various ways for coding in computerized systems for the organization of manual and machine readable files and catalogues and for shelf arrangement in libraries and information services It can constitute a basis for the production of alphabetical authority lists of subject terms or thesauri and can be applied to other subject indexing and search techniques The approach adopted here is a wide one and is not limited to classification for one specific purpose This revision takes account of developments that have taken place since the first edition was published Perhaps the most significant event has been the phenomenal growth of the Internet and the World Wide Web and this new edition outlines the significant role that classification can play in the accessing of Internet resources Classification Made Simple provides a useful gateway to more advanced works and the study of specific schemes As an introductory text it will be invaluable to students of information work and to anyone inside or outside the information profession who needs to understand the manner in which classification can be utilized to facilitate and enhance the retrieval process The Organization of Information Daniel N. Joudrey, 2025-09-04 Organizing information is at the heart of the information professions and the fifth edition of The Organization of Information is a key resource for anyone seeking up to date guidance. For millennia information organization has been central to the functioning of libraries and other information institutions. The fifth edition of The Organization of Information provides a timely detailed introduction to organizing in a variety of information contexts including library cataloging archival description indexing museum registration metadata creation for digital collections organizing on the web linked data and the development of the Semantic Web. Examining how and why information professionals organize information in contemporary libraries archives museums and in a variety of online settings expert Daniel N Joudrey addresses the types of retrieval tools used throughout information organizations the functionality of information systems and the role and effect of technology on information organization. A discussion of encoding follows explaining the basics of the MARC format several XML schemas and the developing BIBFRAME standard. A section on the principles and functionality of metadata covers metadata types metadata characteristics and tools used to manage metadata projects. A timely new chapter on conceptual models and frameworks articulates the visions behind the Library Reference Model LRM Records in Contexts RiC and the Semantic Web including a discussion of RDF as its underlying structural model. Finally the latter portion of the book describes practices related to the creation of descriptive metadata. Providing a thorough overview of the field's major issues challenges and standards The Organization of Information is an essential resource for students in library and information science programs as well as for established professionals who want to refresh their knowledge of the latest developments in the field.
