Sentimental Attachments Janet Carey Eldred, 2005 This book was written first and foremost for other writers. It begins Janet Carey Eldred's extraordinary work of blended genres. For Eldred, teachers of writing need to experience the art and craft of composing creative nonfiction and essays firsthand, exploring multiple perspectives, genres, styles, modes, structures, and subjects. They will be at their best, she argues, if they enact what they profess. Sentimental Attachments opens and closes with important and passionate arguments about why teachers of composition must also be writers of what Eldred calls lived experience. At its center, however, the book offers a series of lyrical, evocative, exploratory essays that address a range of essential and complex questions: How do we compose our personal and professional identities? How do we represent our different selves without compromising other parts of our lives and, perhaps even more important, the lives of others? How do we maintain a strong voice in the world without losing sight of other people, places, histories, and ideas? Like others who defy the conventional view that we must hold the personal separate from the political or the professional, Janet Carey Eldred believes that teachers of writing must compose themselves as they help others to compose. We are living drafts in progress, she writes, and in Sentimental Attachments she models the kinds of composition and revision that make life and the life of writing and teaching meaningful.

Becoming Teammates Charlene Klassen Endrizzi, 2008 Describes a three phase plan for elementary level teachers to develop literacy partnerships with children's families. Becoming Teammates: Teachers and Families as Literacy Partners offers a bold new look at how teachers and families can work together to build family school relationships that value and respect each other's perspectives on literacy. Featuring the voices of parents, teachers, graduate students, and preservice teachers, Charlene Klassen Endrizzi's book explores how families and educators can combine their resources to become essential teammates and partners in children's literacy development. Endrizzi recognizes that family school partnerships are a complex undertaking and offers suggestions for three phases of implementation. In Phase 1, teachers begin by extending to family members a variety of invitations to communicate via surveys, ceremonies, and celebrations, thus building an awareness and understanding of the literacy learning that occurs both in school and at home. Phase 2 explores how teachers can initiate a two way literacy conversation with families through dialogue journals, curricular newsletters and literacy backpacks The final stage has teachers forging partnerships with parents at Family Literacy Gatherings during which they explain and demonstrate literacy beliefs and practices discover and appreciate the families funds of knowledge and acknowledge and nurture the emerging parent advocates Endrizzi challenges teachers to take an active role in developing partnerships by considering a myriad of ways to build bridges of understanding with their students first learning partners Publishers Trade List R R Bowker Publishing,2001 Writers Resource Julie Robitaille,Robert Connally,2005-07 NOT AVAILABLE SEPARATELY International Directory of Company Histories Tina Grant,Thomas Derdak,2004-12 Provides detailed histories of many of the largest and most influential companies worldwide Intended for reference use by students business persons librarians historians economists investors job candidates and others who want to learn more about the historical development of the world s most important companies The Insider's Guide to America Online Meg Booker,1997
