Media Work

Media Work Mark Deuze, 2013-04-17 The media are home to an eclectic bunch of people. This book is about who they are, what they do and what their work means to them. Based on interviews with media professionals in the United States, New Zealand, South Africa and The Netherlands and drawing from both scholarly and professional literatures in a wide variety of disciplines, it offers an account of what it is like to work in the media today. Media professionals face tough choices. Boundaries are drawn and erased between commerce and creativity, between individualism and teamwork, between security and independence. Digital media supercharge these dilemmas as industries merge and media converge as audiences become co-creators of content online. The media industries are the pioneers of the digital age. This book is a critical primer on how media workers manage to survive and is essential reading for anyone considering a career in the media or who wishes to understand how the media are made.

Managing Media Work Mark Deuze, 2010-07-29 Managing Media Work provides a comprehensive cross-national overview of the theory and practice of working in the media in the digital age. Focusing on three key areas: new media, work, media professions and media management, this text prepares students to effectively manage their own media careers and to manage human capital in creative companies. Written by leading international scholars, the book addresses the increasingly global, networked and unpredictable nature of the media industry as well as the growing complexities of media work.

Radio Audiences and Participation in the Age of Network Society Tiziano Bonini, Belén Monclús, 2014-12-05 This book maps, describes and further explores all contemporary forms of interaction between radio and its public with a specific focus on those forms of content co-creation that link producers and listeners. Each essay will analyze one or more case studies piecing together a map of emerging co-creation practices in contemporary radio.

Contributors describe the rise of a new class of radio listeners: the networked ones. Networked audiences are made up of listeners that are not only able to produce written and audio content for radio and co-create along with the radio producers, even definitively bypassing the central hub of the radio station by making podcasts but that also produce social data, calling for an alternative rating system which is less focused on attention and more on other sources such as engagement, sentiment, affection, reputation and influence. What are the economic and political consequences of this paradigm shift? How are radio audiences perceived by radio producers in this new radioscape? What's the true value of radio audiences in this new frame? How do radio audiences take part in the radio flow in this age? Are audiences' interactions and co-creations overrated or underrated by radio producers? To what extent listeners' generated content can be considered a form of participation or free labour exploitation? What's the role of community radio in this new context These are some of the many issues that this book aims to explore Visit <https://www.facebook.com/pages/Radio-Audience-and-Participation-in-the-Age-of-Network-Society/869169869799842> for the book's Facebook page Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress, Library of Congress.
