Huhtamo, 2023-08-22 Tracing the cultural material and discursive history of an early manifestation of media culture in the making. Beginning in the late eighteenth century huge circular panoramas presented their audiences with resplendent representations that ranged from historic battles to exotic locations. Such panoramas were immersive but static. There were other panoramas that moved hundreds and probably thousands of them. Their history has been largely forgotten. In Illusions in Motion Erkki Huhtamo excavates this neglected early manifestation of media culture in the making. The moving panorama was a long painting that unscrolled behind a window by means of a mechanical cranking system accompanied by a lecture, music and sometimes sound and light effects. Showmen exhibited such panoramas in venues that ranged from opera houses to church halls, creating a market for mediated realities in both city and country. In the first history of this phenomenon, Huhtamo analyzes the moving panorama in all its complexity, investigating its relationship to other media and its role in the culture of its time. In his telling, the panorama becomes a window for observing media in operation. Huhtamo explores such topics as cultural forms that anticipated the moving panorama, theatrical panoramas, the diorama, the panoramania of the 1850s and the career of Albert Smith, the most successful showman of that era; competition with magic lantern shows; the final flowering of the panorama in the late nineteenth century; and the panorama's afterlife as a topos traced through its evocation in literature, journalism, science, philosophy and propaganda.

What is Media Archaeology? Jussi Parikka, 2012-06-11 An introduction to an emergent area of media studies. Media Archaeology is a hot topic which is principally concerned with providing more of a historical view of new media and technology. This book lays out the key ideas, thinkers and examples to give readers an entry point to this complex area.
