The Ministry of Defence plans to replace the Royal Navy's current strength of three aircraft carriers with two larger, more versatile carriers capable of carrying a more powerful force including new aircraft to replace the Harrier. This report analyses the progress of the Future Carrier and related Joint Combat Aircraft programmes. There is a serious risk that the two carriers will not enter service in 2012 and 2015 as planned due to delays in investment decision making. The novel Alliance between MoD and three commercial companies has not yet been finalised. Delays are already impacting UK shipyards and threatening jobs and the survival of the yards. The Joint Strike Fighter, a US-led programme, is the aircraft of choice for the new carriers but there are unresolved weight problems. The target In Service Date has been put back from 2012 to 2014 so it is possible that the new carrier would be operational in 2012 before the new aircraft is available. There must be adequate assurances that the UK will have access to all the relevant technology, the Sovereign Capability to enable maintenance and upgrading of new aircraft. Otherwise the UK should consider withdrawing from the Fighter programme
