Privacy Research and Best Practices National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Computer Science and Telecommunications Board, Committee for a Workshop on Privacy for the Intelligence Community: Emerging Technologies, Academic and Industry Research, and Best Practices, 2016-03-24
Recent disclosures about the bulk collection of domestic phone call records and other signals intelligence programs have stimulated widespread debate about the implications of such practices for the civil liberties and privacy of Americans. In the wake of these disclosures many have identified a need for the intelligence community to engage more deeply with outside privacy experts and stakeholders. At the request of the Office of the Director of National Intelligence the National Academies of Sciences Engineering and Medicine convened a workshop to address the privacy implications of emerging technologies public and individual preferences and attitudes toward privacy and ethical approaches to data collection and use. This report summarizes discussions between experts from academia and the private sector and from the intelligence community on private sector best practices and privacy research results

Using Technology to Enhance Clinical Supervision

Tony Rousmaniere, Edina Renfro-Michel, 2016-01-08 This is the first comprehensive research and practice based guide for understanding and assessing supervision technology and for using it to improve the breadth and depth of services offered to supervisees and clients. Written by supervisors for supervisors it examines the technology that is currently available and how and when to use it. Part I provides a thorough review of the technological legal ethical cultural accessibility and security competencies that are the foundation for effectively integrating technology into clinical supervision. Part II presents applications of the most prominent and innovative uses of technology across the major domains in counseling along with best practices for delivery. Each chapter in this section contains a literature review concrete examples for use case examples and lessons learned. Requests for digital versions from the ACA can be found on wiley.com. Internet of Things and the Law Guido Noto La Diega, 2022-10-14 Internet of Things and the Law Legal Strategies for Consumer Centric Smart Technologies is the most comprehensive and up to date analysis of the legal issues in the Internet of Things IoT. For decades the decreasing importance of tangible wealth and power and the increasing significance of their disembodied counterparts has been the subject of much legal research. For some time now legal scholars have grappled with how laws drafted for tangible property and predigital offline technologies can cope with dematerialisation digitalisation and the internet. As dematerialisation continues this book aims to illuminate the opposite movement rematerialisation namely the return of data knowledge and power within a physical smart world. This development frames the book's central question can the law steer rematerialisation in a human centric and socially just direction. To answer it the book focuses on the IoT the sociotechnological phenomenon that is primarily responsible for this shift. After a thorough analysis of how existing laws can be interpreted to empower IoT end users Noto La Diega leaves us with the fundamental question of what happens when the law fails us and concludes with a call for collective resistance against smart capitalism The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 license The Law Times, 1899 Spectacle, 2002, [The comprehensive English dictionary, the pronunciation adapted to the best modern usage by R.
