On Conscience Bioethics And Culture:

Bioethics in Cultural Contexts Christoph Rehmann-Sutter, Marcus Düwell, Dietmar Mieth, 2006-03-08 CHRISTOPH REHMANN SUTTER MARCUS D WELL DIETMAR MIETH When we placed finitude limits of human existence as a motto over a round of discussion on biomedicine and bioethics which led to this collection of essays we did not know how far this would lead us into methodological quandaries However we felt intuitively that an interdisciplinary approach including social and cultural sciences would have an advantage over a solely disciplinary philosophical or theological analysis Bioethics if it is to have adequate discriminatory power should include sensitivity to the cultural contexts of biomedicine and also to the cultural contexts of bioethics itself Context awareness of course is not foreign to philosophical or theological bioethics for the simple reason that the issues tackled in the debates as in other fields of ethics could not be adequately understood outside their contexts Moral issues are always accompanied by contexts When we try to unpack them which is necessary to make them accessible to ethical discussion we are regularly confronted with the fact that in removing too much of the context we do not clarify an issue but make it less comprehensible The context at least some essential parts of it is intrinsic to the issue Unpacking in ethics is therefore a different procedure It does not mean peeling the context off but rather identifying which contextual elements are essential for an understanding of the key moral aspects of the issue and explaining how they establish its particular character Cultures in Bioethics Hans-Martin Sass, 2016 Biotopes and Bioethics are highly complex and adaptable systems of Bios Individual bios is terminal but the stream of Bios goes on Basic properties of Bios such as communication and cooperation competence and competition contemplation and calculation compassion and cultivation come in different shades of light and dark in individuals and species in history and ecology Hans Martin Sass discusses the territories of Bios and Bioethics based on his involvement in decades of consulting in academia business and politics Special attention is given to the vision and role of Bioethics in research and training in religious and cultural traditions and in the survival happiness and health of corporate social and political bodies Hans Martin Sass is Senior Research Scholar Emeritus at Georgetown University Washington DC and Professor Emeritus of Philosophy at Ruhr University Bochum Series Practical Ethics Studies Ethik in der Praxis Studien Vol 40 Subject Bioethics Global Education in Bioethics Henk ten Have, 2018-06-14 This book presents and elaborates on how the teaching of global ethics in healthcare contributes to furthering ideals of cosmopolitanism solidarity equality respect for differences and concern with what human beings and specifically patients have in common regardless of where they live and who they are Global problems such as pandemic diseases disasters lack of care and medication homelessness and displacement call for global responses The new area of global bioethics is providing answers by arguing that ethical discourse should first of all criticize the structures of violence and injustice that underlie many threats to global health Education of health professionals should articulate that they are citizens of the world like their patients This book first demonstrates that a moral vision of global education is necessary to gain a global dimension It is argued that a global framework of ethical principles is available the challenge is to elaborate and specify that framework into specific educational approaches and models The book subsequently analyzes goals and challenges of global education in biomedicine and healthcare It is shown how such challenges e g inequities and cultural differences can be overcome Finally the book presents concrete examples cases methods and practices of global education in bioethics The unique feature of the book is that it addresses global education challenges specifically in the area of healthcare medicine and medical science It combines two areas of research and experience that are usually not connected global bioethics and global education This book is written for all those involved in global ethics teaching in medicine nursing ethics philosophy law and theology courses

Nanotechnology and Ethical Governance in the European Union and China Sally Dalton-Brown, 2015-06-03 This book addresses questions surrounding the feasibility of a global approach to ethical governance of science and technology The emergence and rapid spread of nanotechnology offers a test case for how the world might act when confronted with a technology that could transform the global economy and provide solutions to issues such as pollution while potentially creating new environmental and health risks The author compares ethical issues identified by stakeholders in China and the EU about the rapid introduction of this potentially transformative technology a fitting framework for an exploration of global agency The study explores the discourse ethics and participatory Technology Assessment pTA inspired by the work of Jürgen Habermas to argue that different views can be universally recognized and agreed upon perhaps within an ideal global community of communication The book offers a developed discourse model utilizing virtue ethics as well as the work of Taylor Beck Korsgaard and others on identity formation as a way forward in the context of global ethics The author seeks to develop new vocabularies of comparison to discover shared aspects of identity and to achieve hopefully an intercultural personhood that may lead to a global ethics The book offers a useful guide for researchers on methods for advancing societal understanding of science and technology The author addresses a broad audience from philosophers ethicists and scientists to the interested general reader For the layperson one chapter surveys nanoissues as depicted in fiction and another offers a view of how an ordinary citizen can act as a global agent of change in ethics

The Development of Fashion in Australia. Conscious Consumption, a New Future of Fashion as Depicted in Contemporary Media, 2024-10-22 Pre University Paper from the year 2019 in the subject Design Industry Graphics Fashion grade 1-7 Theodor Heuss Gymnasium Wolfenbüttel language English abstract This paper explores the increasing relevance of sustainability in Australia's fashion industry sparked by the inaugural Australian Circular Fashion Conference held in Sydney in March 2018 This event marks a significant turning point in the country's engagement with sustainable fashion aligning with a global shift toward more responsible consumption Through an analysis of current trends media coverage and the insights of key industry figures like Camille Reed and Clare Press the paper examines the growing awareness and commitment to sustainable practices within Australia's fashion ecosystem The discussion highlights the challenges posed by fast fashion including overproduction waste and exploitation while addressing the economic drivers behind these issues It also considers the rise of conscious consumerism and green fashion emphasizing that Australia is positioned to play a crucial role in shaping the future of global fashion sustainability The paper underscores the importance of continued monitoring of these developments as the fashion industry adapts to the growing demand for ethical and sustainable alternatives

Ibero-American Bioethics Léo Pessini, Christian Paul de Barchifontaine, Fernando Lolas Stepke, 2009-12-16 This book is the first in a series of planned volumes focused on preserving the character of the development of bioethics in particular cultural contexts As the first of these volumes Leo Pessini Christian de Paul de Barchifontaine and Fernando Lolas Stepke's work has succeeded well It has brought together accounts by scholars who were crucial to the emergence of bioethics in the Ibero American cultural domain This trail blazing work in the history of bioethics will be of enduring significance I am deeply in their debt for having shouldered this far from easy task Bioethics is the product of very particular socio historical developments Most prominent among them have been 1 the secularization of the dominant culture of North America Western Europe and now Central and South America as well 2 a deflation of the status and authority of physicians as moral authorities able to guide their own profession and 3 the salience of a post traditional animus that gives central place to persons as isolated atomic sources of moral authority Bioethics initially took shape in North America as a post Christian post professional post traditional social movement This bioethics sought to establish a moral discourse for the public forum a moral practice able to give practical guidance in hospitals and other institutions and a body of undergirding and justifying theoretical reflections

On Conscience Joseph Ratzinger, 2010-11-09 Prepared and co published by the National Catholic Bioethics Center in Philadelphia this book is a combination of two lengthy essays written by Cardinal Ratzinger and delivered in talks when he was head of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith Both talks deal with the importance of conscience and its exercise in particular circumstances Ratzinger's reflections show that contemporary debates over the nature of conscience have deep historical and philosophical roots He says that a person is bound to act in accord with his conscience but he makes it clear that there must be reliable proven sources for the judgment of conscience in moral issues other than the subjective reflections of each individual The always unique and profound insights that the new Pope Benedict XVI brings to perennial problems reminds the reader of his strong warning before the recent Papal conclave of the great dangers today of the dictatorship of relativism

Discourse and the Two Cultures, 1988-07-21 Thousands of books offer competing explanations of the problems of communication between peoples If there is any consensus it is that the assumptions and presuppositions of the communicators shape and mold their conclusions This volume aims to pose the issue through the thoughtful reflections of some of the nation's best minds Those contributing are Father Edward A Malloy President of the University of Notre Dame Roger Shinn former holder of the Reinhold Niebuhr chair at Union Theological Seminary and leader of Protestant thought Dr Joseph Fletcher considered by many to be the father of situation ethics E D Hirsch author of the best selling book Cultural Literacy Richard Rorty English Professor at the University of Virginia who may be seen as a champion of trial and error experimentation pragmatism and empiricism Edward Teller a scientist sometimes called the father of the hydrogen bomb Ian Craig a rising young scholar of international relations Martin Marty one of the foremost scholars on the history of religion Harold J Berman Woodruff Professor of Law at the Emory University School of Law and Robert Benne leading scholar of religion and society at Roanoke College

Losing Our Dignity Charles C. Camosy, 2021 There is perhaps no more important value than fundamental human equality And yet despite large percentages of people affirming the value the resources available to explain and defend the basis for such equality are few and far between In his newest book Charles Camosy provides a thoughtful defense of human dignity Telling personal stories like those of Jahi McMath Terri Schiavo and Alfie Evans Camosy a noted bioethicist and theologian uses an engaging style to show how the influence of secularized medicine is undermining fundamental human equality in the broader culture And in a disturbing final chapter Camosy sounds the alarm about the next population to fall if we stay on our current trajectory dozens of millions of human beings with dementia Heeding this alarm Camosy argues means doing two things First making urgent and genuine attempts to dialogue with a secularized culture which cannot see how it is undermining one of its most foundational values Second religious communities which hold the Imago Dei sacred must mobilize their existing institutions and create new ones to care for a new set of human beings our throwaway culture may deem non persons

Bioethics Arthur B. LaFrance, 2006 This casebook begins by defining an ethical community and membership within that community follows with the role of the individual focuses then on the patient provider relationship and closes with bioethical choices The essential premise is that humans must exist in relation to each other and do so as biological beings The central questions then are how do we assert and respect ourselves as individuals and what claims do our communities have upon us Surprisingly there is a large body of caselaw much of it from the Supreme Court dealing with these issues That is the point of this casebook As so Cruzan and Griswold and Casey as well as a number of less familiar cases appear recast for their bioethical significance A number of new issues are also explored such as memory and emotion and physical integrity and sexual predators This new edition of Bioethics Health Care Human Rights and the Law includes the following coverage Reproductive issues of abortion surrogacy and cloning Identity issues of gender change family and same sex marriage Midlife issues such as transplants and tissue donation harvesting End of life issues including persistent vegetative states and assisted death Extensive coverage of the patient provider relationship including informed consent conflicts of interest confidentiality competence and medical experimentation and Coverage of issues such as status of nonequals e g prisoners and incompetents and the undead e g anencephalics testing conscience and dissent and public health matters e g tobacco and alcohol and discussion of the way society should respond Global Bioethics ,1992 A History of Women in the West: Toward a cultural identity in the twentieth century ,1992
