The Leadership of Organizational Change Mark Hughes,2015-10-05 Understanding both leadership and change have been recurrent and popular themes within the business management and organization studies literature However our understanding of leadership and organizational change in combination is far more limited The Leadership of Organizational Change offers a critical review of the evolution of leadership and organizational change for the past thirty five years taking stock of what we know identifying what we do not know and establishing how the study of the leadership of change should advance. In the late seventies and early eighties as interest in managing and leading change was fuelled by the competitive threat of Asia in general and Japan in particular as perceived by western businesses and governments Burns 1978 writing in his landmark book Leadership at this time referred to an intellectual crisis. The crisis of leadership today is the mediocrity or irresponsibility of so many of the men and women in power but leadership rarely rises to the full need for it. The fundamental crisis underlying mediocrity is intellectual. If we know all too much about our leaders we know far too little about leadership. While the study of managing change has benefitted from sustained critical scrutiny particularly in the last decade it is believed that this is to have been at the expense of critical scrutiny of leading change. The Leadership of Organizational Change critically reviews how the study of leading change has advanced since 1978 and the crisis of intellectual mediocrity.

Messick,Roderick M. Kramer,2004-09-22 In this book some of the world's leading scholars come together to describe their thinking and research on the topic of the psychology of leadership Most of the chapters were originally presented as papers at a research conference held in 2001 at the Kellogg School of Management of Northwestern University The contributions span traditional social psychological areas as well as organizational theory examining leadership as a psychological process and as afforded by organizational constraints and opportunities The editors goal was not to focus the chapters on a single approach to the study and conceptualization of leadership but rather to display the diversity of issues that surround the topic Leadership scholars have identified a host of approaches to the study of leadership What are the personal characteristics of leaders What is the nature of the relation between leaders and followers Why do we perceive some people to be better leaders than others What are the circumstances that evoke leadership qualities in people Can leadership be taught And so on The contributions to this book examine these important questions and fall into three categories conceptions of leadership factors that influence the effectiveness of leadership and the consequences and effects of leadership on the leader All in all the chapters of this volume display part of a broad spectrum of novel and important approaches to the study of the psychology of leadership We hope that they are equally useful to those who are or would be leaders and to those who study the topic As recent events have served to remind us it is too important a topic to be ignored by psychologists The Principal as Educator and Leader Kathleen McLane,2007 This collection draws from the best of the ERS Spectrum principalship literature over the past five years to provide K 12 principals with a guide to reflective practice The resource provided here is distinctive in the way it addresses the dual roles of the principal as instructional and managerial leader in a format that is designed both for individual reflection and growth and for discussion in peer groups and mentoring support Each article is followed by a series of questions designed for reflection and discussion to assist principals whether new or experienced in examining their progress and goals in the evolving responsibility of leadership

Organisational Leadership and Generation Z Lea Cowlick,2021-01-15 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2020 in the subject Business economics Review of Business Studies grade 1 0 language English abstract Generation Z are individuals born between 1995 and 2010 who are growing up in a digital world However Transformational Leadership is a relatively recent theory of leadership shown to be effective across various industries Leaders who cultivate a Transformational Leadership style are able to work together with their followers towards higher goals and shift expectations and perceptions Thus this thesis was initiated to test the hypothesis that Transformational Leadership theory is effective for Generation Z A web based survey based on Transformational Leadership was designed to assess Generation Z's expectations of effective leadership

Therefore 15 statements were individually assessed and then grouped together into the 5 dimensions of Transformational Leadership to determine if Generation Z expressed more importance for any specific dimension. Finally a depth interview was designed based on the Transformational Leadership theory to see how leaders incorporate Generation Z's expectations effectively into their organisation. A total of 147 respondents from Generation Z answered the survey with 15 statements. Statements with the most important expectations were: a leader should promote his followers' further development and a leader should have confidence in their followers. When all 15 components were put together to form the five dimensions of Transformational Leadership, the following dimensions were most important to Generation Z: Inspirational Motivation and Idealized Influence Attributes. Further analysis showed that Idealized Influence Behaviour becomes increasingly important with more working experience. Furthermore, three managers were selected for depth interviews from the aviation industry, automotive industry and an educational foundation for disadvantaged children. The depth interviews provided feedback showing that managers acknowledge Generation Z's values and that there are different approaches for leading Generation Z. Generation Z offers their workforce a number of opportunities such as their flexibility, readiness for change and openness to digitalisation. On the other hand, Generation Z need more attention and leadership support. Leader to Leader \(LTL\)
