The Dead Sea Scrolls and Pauline Literature Jean-Sébastien Rey,2013-11-11 The relationships between Pauline literature and the Dead Sea scrolls have fascinated specialists ever since the latter were first discovered Now that all the Qumran scrolls have been published it is possible to see more clearly the amplitude and impact of this corpus on first century Judaism This book offers some syntheses of the results obtained in the last decades and also opens up new perspectives by highlighting similarities and indicating possible relationships between these various writings within Mediterranean Judaism In addition the authors wish to show how certain traditions spread evolve and are reconfigured in ancient Judaism as they meet new religious cultural and social challenges

Matthew, Paul, and the Anthropology of Law David A. Kaden,2016-09-30 Drawing from Michel Foucault s understanding of power David A Kaden explores how relations of power are instrumental in forming law as an object of discourse in the Gospel of Matthew and in the Letters of Paul This is a comparative project in that the author examines the role that power relations play in generating discussions of law in the first century context and in several ethnographies from the field of the anthropology of law from Indonesia Mexico the Philippines and colonial era Hawaii Discussions of law proliferate in situations where the relations of power within social groups come into contact with social forces outside the group David A Kaden s interdisciplinary approach reframes how law is studied in Christian Origins scholarship especially Pauline and Matthean scholarship by focusing on what makes discourses on law possible For this he relies heavily on cross cultural ethnographic materials from legal anthropology     God's Saved Israel Philip La G. Du Toit,2019-05-14 God's Saved Israel examines identity in the Pauline corpus in terms of how Paul expresses the new identity in Christ in relation to the identity of ancient Israel In this study the way in which Paul uses the terms Israel Israelite and Judean is approached on the basis of the way in which these terms were used in the second temple period by both insiders and outsiders rather than presupposing that Paul used it in a different way By thoroughly engaging with the New Perspective on Paul and the Radical New Perspective on Paul Paul's conception of identity is pursued mainly along theological exegetical lines especially in terms of the contrast between flesh and spirit While Rom 11:26 which points to all Israel that will be saved and Gal 6:16 which points to the Israel of God who are blessed are often utilized in a paradigmatic way to interpret the rest of Paul the approach in this book is the other way around These two texts are approached by first assessing Paul's conception of identity in the whole of the Pauline corpus and then by interpreting Rom 11:26 and Gal 6:16 with a larger understanding of identity in Paul at hand     Everyone Will See the Salvation of God Lesław Daniel

Thomas G. Casey,Justin Taylor,2011 The discerning and perceptive essays gathered together in this volume make evident that a comprehensive understanding of Pauline thought must include the following aspects of his entire and comprehensive matrix an examination of the Pauline letters in their specific and contingent as well as their broader and coherent contexts a careful and precise analysis of all relevant Jewish literature including the Dead Sea Scrolls the incorporation of all relevant archaeological historical and literary evidence for the reconstruction of the political cultural and religious matrix of the Graeco Roman cities to which Paul's letters are addressed The issues treated in this volume are of enormous relevance for a better understanding of Paul's Jewish Matrix and his very Jewishness     Muslim Christian Dialogue M.
