Reimagining Research Trevor J. Buser, Sandy Gibson, 2023-06-16 Reimagining Research centers antiracist research practices and showcases real world research in counseling practice. The book focuses on the research competencies that matter most to counselors with each chapter co authored by practicing counselors and counselor educators. Each chapter reflects diversity in authorship and opens with a potential for practice case study that illustrates a research related challenge in the practice of counseling. Online resources including a focus group interview sample transcripts of qualitative interviews, video demonstrations of statistical techniques and other documents used in research processes present these potentials for practice in experiential ways. Chapters close with attention to resources that are readily available for counselors who want to implement these practices such as evidence based practice guidelines, open access journals and open access statistical tools.

Symposium, 2008 Reversing Deforestation Brent Sohngen, Douglas Southgate, 2024-12-10 Dire reports of surging deforestation in the Brazilian Amazon appear often in international headlines with commentators decrying the destruction of tree covered habitats as an act of environmental vandalism. Although forest losses are alarming, broader trends are bending in the direction of forest recovery. In this book, Brent Sohngen and Douglas Southgate address the long term recovery of forests in Latin America. The authors synthesize trends in demography, agricultural development, and technological change, and argue that slower population growth and increasing crop and tree yields in conjunction with protecting local ownership of natural resources have encouraged forest transition. This book explores how market forces, ownership arrangements, and the enforcement of property rights have influenced this shift from net deforestation to net afforestation. Forest transitions have happened before, such as the recovery of tree covered habitats in Europe and the United States. Signs of a similar transformation in land use are now present in Latin America. Ending deforestation requires a strengthening of forest dwellers' property rights while ensuring that biodiversity conservation is no longer treated as a value less externality. The resulting forest landscape actively managed for ecosystem services will be more resilient as is needed to overcome climate change.

Old Stories, New Ways Vivian Manasc, 2020-12-04 Vivian Manasc, one of the founders of Manasc Isaac Architects, has pioneered sustainable architecture in Canada. Her work in partnership with Indigenous communities has been her greatest inspiration, and it has transformed the very nature of her practice. Through the profound lessons of the Seven Grandfather Teachings, Vivian came to understand that the process of planning and designing a building should be a circle with the beginning and end of the story linked together. The stories Vivian tells in Old Stories, New Ways are also framed by these teachings of Courage, Love, Wisdom, Respect, Truth, Humility, and Honesty, with each teaching illuminating an aspect of how working with Dene, Cree, Saulteaux, Métis, Inuit, and Inuvialuit communities has influenced her design practice.

Frontiers in the Nutrition Sciences Institute of Medicine, Food and Nutrition Board, 1989-01-01 This series of individually authored chapters examines the nature and extent of scientific advances in the nutrition sciences and describes both future opportunities in the field and barriers to progress Despite concern about declining attention to nutrition in universities and medical schools the authors offer a bright and challenging future in nutrition research and training that should generate enthusiasm among young researchers and teachers for this indispensable component of biology The Remaking of Archival Values Victoria Hoyle,2022-10-07 The Remaking of Archival Values posits that archival theory and practice are fields in flux and that recent critical archival discourse that addresses neoliberalism racism and the legacies of colonialism and patriarchy represents a disruption not only to established principles but also to the values that underpin them Using critical discourse analysis and comparing theory and practice from the UK and the Anglophone world Hoyle explores the challenges faced by scholars institutions organisations and practitioners in embedding new values She demonstrates how persistent underlying discursive structures about archives have manifested from the late nineteenth century to the present day Qualitative and participatory research in the UK shows how conceptions of archival value arise are expressed and become authorised in practice at international national and local levels Considering what might be learnt from similar debates in public history and cultural heritage studies the book asks if and how dominant epistemologies of the archive can be dismantled amidst systems of power that resist change The Remaking of Archival Values is relevant to researchers and students in the field of archival and information studies as well as practitioners who work with archives around the world It will also speak to the interests of those working in the fields of cultural heritage archaeology museum studies public history and gender and race studies Archives, Recordkeeping and Social Justice David A. metaphor of the archive is invoked to cover almost any kind of memory collection or accumulation it is important to re examine what is entailed politically and methodologically in the practice of feminist archival research This question is central not only to the renewed interest many disciplines are showing in empirical research in archives but also given the current explosion of online social and cultural data which has fundamentally transformed what we understand an archive to be Contributors in this collection are keen to mark out what may be novel and what is enduring in the ways in which feminist thought and feminist practice frame archives Importantly they engage with archives in their historical and political complexity rather than treating them as simple repositories of source material In this respect contributors are keenly interested in what it means to archive particular materials and not simply in what those materials may hold for feminist researchers The collection features established and emerging feminist scholars and brings together interventions from across such disciplines as history literature modernist studies cinema studies and law This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Australian Feminist Studies
