OM 6 Chapter 6: Supply Chain Design

Discussion Questions

- (1) One study that focused on the impact of China trade on the U.S. textile industry noted that 19 U.S. textile factories were closed and 26,000 jobs lost in 2004 and 2005. If these factories had not closed, it would have cost U.S. consumers $6 billion more in higher textile prices. Assuming these facts are true, offer an argument for or against off-shoring U.S. jobs.

This is a difficult issue with economic, social, and political consequences. How does one trade off the loss of domestic jobs with global economics? This question can trigger a robust class debate, and students will most likely have strong opinions in either direction. This debate is a key topic in the 2016 US presidential elections with Hillary Clinton, Donald Trump, Ted Cruz, and others arguing their plans to bring jobs back to the USA (reshoring). Other issues may come up such as the role of firms and government in retraining people who lose their jobs, the importance of an educated workforce in today's information society, etc. One student made a very convincing argument that the "true cost" to U.S. society of losing 26,000 jobs far exceeds $6 billion in higher prices and placed much of the blame on government policies such as taxes, regulatory laws, lack of retraining programs, etc.

- (2) Explain why it is important for operations managers to understand the local culture and practices of the countries in which a firm does business. What are some of the potential consequences if they don't?

Culture defines the unique lifestyle for a nation or region. Since businesses locate their factories, call centers, warehouses, and offices around the world, operations managers need to be sensitive and understand the local culture. Notions of authority, time, color, value, respect, humor, work ethic, manners, and social status may be quite different from one's own cultural norms. Global sourcing agents, for example, are good examples of a supply chain management job where these cultural skills are needed. The agent is on the other side of the planet representing their company in a different culture and negotiating big supply chain contracts based on cost, time, quality and sustainability. See Exhibit 6.4 (Things to Consider When Making Offshore Decisions) for offshore criteria.
