Publishers Weekly Get out of your own way Our professional lives are full of situations outside of our control

A job interviewer asks a question out of left field A coworker puts you on the spot in front of the boss Your PowerPoint presentation crashes at a critical moment

Most people react to the unexpected with anxiety and unease We get rattled stumble over our words and overthink the situation

Others though handle it with self assurance and aplomb They gain a sense of empowerment and energy when the pressure is on

Like great improv actors they're able to think on their feet

The great thing is improv isn't about winging it or flying by the seat of your pants improv at its core is about listening and responding It's based on rules and techniques and it taps directly into your soft communication skills

By incorporating it into your prep work for professional situations you'll learn how to retrain your brain for the unexpected and get out of your own way in those unexpected and expected professional situations

Practicing improv isn't about being funny Instead it's about developing the mental agility to spin any surprise in your favor and to communicate with confidence Filled with engaging improv activities this interactive guide will ensure you never come away from a tough moment pondering the woulda coulda shoulda again You ll learn how to nurture your personal style for communicating in every professional situation From effective listening in the office giving presentations and leading meetings to negotiating a raise acing an interview and more you ll start communicating with confidence and stop letting the unexpected hold you back Take your workplace communication and your career to the next level by mastering the art of Thinking on Your Feet
