Evaluating and Reporting Student Progress in Business Education Clyde Wilson Humphrey, Marion Minerva Lamb, 1949

Taiwan Business Topics, 2009 Business School and the Noble Purpose of the Market Andrew J. Hoffman, 2025-04-08

The intellectual foundation for the next generation of business leaders Today s business schools were designed for a world that no longer exists Capitalism raised the standard of living for billions of people over the past 150 years but is now causing systemic challenges it is unable to address including climate change and inequality And yet business schools continue to teach ideas that are making things worse elevating the primacy of shareholder profits above the interests of employees the environment and society viewing government as an intrusion on the free market rather than an arbiter of its proper functioning and promoting unlimited economic growth despite the devastating environmental and social consequences Business schools cannot simply drop an elective into their curriculum to address these challenges We must rethink the faulty foundations Business School and the Noble Purpose of the Market explains the intellectual foundation MBA students faculty and administrators need to reform capitalism and restore its noble purpose for the 21st century Many business students are in fact seeking this kind of education and frustrated that they are not getting it from their professors This book will fill in gaps in their education equipping them with the models and mindset to rethink shareholder capitalism and serve society s needs Business faculty and administrators will find a practical program for amending curriculum and pedagogy changing student and faculty rewards and bringing a new spirit and sensibility to the business school Resources in Education, 1986

Management Education Eric Cornuel, Howard Thomas, Matthew Wood, 2022-03-01 Without a doubt business schools have been a success story in higher education over the last 50 years the period of EFMD s existence Even so they have come under scrutiny and attack over their academic legitimacy and value proposition for business and society In this book drawn from a special issue of Global Focus the EFMD has selected around 25 of the best most thoughtful short papers published in

Global Focus to examine the role and purpose of EFMD in the evolution of management education Each of the chapters interpret current strategic debates about the evolution of business schools and their paradigms and also identify possible strategic options for handling uncertain volatile futures These papers can be broadly categorized into four consistent themes the first theme is concerned with the purpose and value proposition of management education the second theme focuses on a perceived need for new business models and how to design and build them the third theme addresses the question of the impact of the business school on business and society given the increasingly academic pursuits of business schools and their often weak links to the business community the so called rigour relevance dilemma and the fourth theme concerns how to map and design business school futures in an increasingly volatile uncertain complex and ambiguous crisis oriented environment This impressive collection of insights from business management leaders from across the globe is inspiring reading for higher education leaders policy makers and business leaders seeking insight into the future of management education The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license
