Global Environmental Politics Pamela S. Chasek, David L. Downie, Jen Iris Allan, 2025-09-25 Global Environmental Politics has provided an accurate up to date and unbiased understanding of the world's most pressing environmental issues for more than thirty years. This ninth edition continues this practice by covering critical new developments in global environmental politics and policymaking. Updated case studies on key issues such as climate change, endangered species, ozone depletion, land degradation and desertification, marine biodiversity in areas beyond national jurisdiction, whaling, hazardous wastes, toxic chemicals, mercury, and biodiversity detail the ongoing development of major environmental treaty regimes and a new case study on plastic pollution showcases the challenges of creating new treaties during a period of significant global change. There is also new material on the challenges to implementing the Sustainable Development Goals, the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, the World Trade Organization's agreement on fisheries subsidies and the use of the International Court of Justice to improve compliance with environmental agreements. Updated information about global environmental trends, paradigms, and actors completes this comprehensive introduction to contemporary international environmental politics. Global Environmental Politics is vital reading for students of environmental politics and anyone wishing to understand the current state of the field and to make informed decisions about which policies will best safeguard our environment for the future.

Foreign Office,1897 The Endangered Atmosphere Marvin S. Soroos,1997 With the Earth's atmosphere increasingly being used as a convenient sink for myriad pollutants humanity faces the daunting problem of conserving a vital resource that like the oceans outer space and Antarctica defies geographical boundary In this comprehensive look at the atmosphere's deterioration an issue that has emerged as a leading international concern Marvin S Soroos considers how it is being altered and degraded by a rapidly growing and industrializing human population and what is being done to preserve it In case studies of four international atmospheric agreements governing atmospheric testing of nuclear weapons acid precipitation ozone layer depletion and global climate change Soroos demonstrates the uneven piecemeal approach that the international community has taken He draws conclusions regarding the circumstances favoring cooperation among states and ponders the likelihood that governments will pursue environmental security in a preventive collaborative way rather than by depending on the self reliant defensive strategies that have proved so costly and counterproductive in the pursuit of military security

Annual Series Great Britain. Foreign Office,1895 After the Earth Summit Hilary F. French,1992 The Environment, International Relations, and U.S. Foreign Policy Paul G. Harris,2001 Presents results from the Project on Environmental Change and Foreign Policy begun at London Guildhall University in 1998 showing how environmental changes influence the US foreign policy process and analyzing domestic and international actors and institutions that constrain and shape US actions on environmental issues Contributors examine the central role played by the US in international efforts to address problems of global environmental change and assess US international environmental policies Three broad areas are covered national security and geopolitics domestic and international politics and national interests and international obligations Harris teaches international relations at London Guildhall University Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Multilateral Negotiations Fen Osler Hampson,Michael Hart,1995 Political scientist Fen Osler Hampson with the assistance of trade specialist Michael Hart studies the component parts of the multilateral negotiation process to identify those factors making for success or failure The authors argue that multilateral negotiation is in essence a coalition building enterprise involving states nonstate actors and international organizations Among the questions they raise are How do issues get to the table in multilateral negotiations Who sits at the table and who composes the tiers of relevant stakeholders What are the procedures for managing complexity What are the obstacles strategic and psychological to reaching agreement Ranging from the 1963 Test Ban Treaty to the Climate Change Convention 1992 and the completion of the Uruguay Round of GATT 1993 individual case studies include discussions on security environmental and economic issues
