Vocabulary

Increase and Collocation Learning Haiyan Men, 2017-09-04 This book highlights research that expands on our knowledge of second language collocation acquisition. It presents original findings based on the largest collocation database to date encompassing over 8 000 collocations verb noun adjective noun and noun noun. These collocations collected from a one million learner corpus were not confined to English as a foreign language EFL learners at a particular proficiency level but also included learners at three levels. As such the book provides a panoramic view regarding L2 collocation acquisition not only in terms of learners acquisition of different types of collocations but in terms of the developmental patterns in L2 collocation learning. One major discovery is that there is a collocation lag as learners proficiency levels rise which is associated with vocabulary increase in particular semantic domains a remarkable insight for second language acquisition researchers English teachers and EFL learners alike. The findings reported shed new light on how collocations are acquired by EFL learners offering guidance on how they can best be taught. In closing the book discusses pedagogical aspects that arise from considering how learners can be helped with collocation learning

Effective Curriculum for Teaching L2

Writing Eli Hinkel, 2015-02-20 Effective Curriculum for Teaching L2 Writing sets out a clear big picture for curricular thinking about L2 writing pedagogy and offers a step by step guide to curriculum design with practical examples and illustrations. Its main purpose is to help pre service and practicing teachers design courses for teaching academic writing and to do this as efficiently and effectively as possible. Bringing together the what and the how to with research based principles what sets this book apart is its overarching focus on language pedagogy and language building. Part 1 examines curricular foundations in general and focuses on what is socially valued in L2 writing and pedagogy at school and at the college and university level. Part 2 is concerned with the nitty gritty the daily realities of curricular design and classroom instruction. Part 3 takes a close look at the key pedagogical ingredients of teaching academic L2 writing vocabulary and collocations grammar.
