management books achieve a clear cut distinction between strategy and tactics Seldom they include the business model as a third competitiveness driver And never so far has the theory of business been considered as a fourth required performance vector different from all other three However organizational optimization requires all four the why where what and how The theory of business Drucker is the why the company makes sense The reality assumptions the organization is grounded upon What it is paid for The business model Porter is the what the basic pillars of a firm's organization How it transforms client satisfaction into value for itself Strategy Joffre is the where the choice of 1 geographical areas 2 industries and 3 within them of segments And tactics is the how respecting to the nine functional areas from marketing Kotler to human resources to how to advertise how to motivate etc Four inferences follow All four drivers are necessary conditions none sufficient They interrelate some impacting on others They must fit reinforcing each other and They should be periodically reviewed under a sequence of steps This is illustrated by the book's detailed examples of e.g. Nike, Dollar Shave Club, Spotify, SpaceX, Vend, me Sears, IBM, Apple, Music, McDonald's, Marks, Spencer, Canva, SolarCity, Farfetch, etc. The fundamental message is that neglect of any of the four drivers brings efficiency doing things right the Phronesis of Aristotle at the cost of lower effectiveness doing the right things the Chokhmah of Solomon With more and more resources producing less and less underperformance will follow

Neuroepidemiology , 2016-09-13

Neuroepidemiology covers the foundations of neuroepidemiological research and the epidemiology of disorders primarily affecting the nervous system as well as those originating outside the nervous system. The etiology of many important central nervous system disorders remains elusive. Even with diseases where the key risk determinants have been identified, better prevention and therapy is needed to reduce high incidence and mortality. Although evolving technologies for studying disease provide opportunities for such, it is essential for researchers and clinicians to understand how best to apply such technology in the context of carefully characterized patient populations. By paying special attention to methodological approaches, this volume prepares new investigators from a variety of disciplines to conduct epidemiological studies in order to discern the etiologic factors and underlying mechanisms that influence the onset, progression and recurrence of CNS disorders and diseases. The book also provides current information on methodological approaches for clinical neurologists seeking to expand their knowledge in research. Includes coverage of the foundations of neuroepidemiological research and the epidemiology of disorders primarily affecting the nervous system as well as those originating outside the nervous system. Describes the most recent methodologies to define and quantify the burden of CNS disorders and to understand the underlying mechanisms with neuroimaging and molecular methods, receiving particular emphasis. Offers extensive description of those neurological conditions that are secondary to other diseases whose incidence is on the rise because of longer survival rates. Features chapters authored by leaders in the field from around the globe.

This book provides broad coverage of the effects of addictive substances on the brain, beginning with an overview of how the substances lead to dysfunction before examining each substance in depth. It discusses the pathology of addiction, the structural damage resulting from abuse of various substances and covers the neurobiological, neurodegenerative, behavioral and cognitive implications of use across the lifespan, from prenatal exposure to adolescence and old age. This book aids researchers seeking an understanding of the neurological changes that these substances induce and is also extremely useful for those seeking potential treatments and therapies for individuals suffering from chronic abuse of these substances. Integrates current research on the actions of addictive substances in neurological disease. Includes functional foods such as caffeine, beverages that have habituating effects on the brain. Provides a synopsis of key ideas associated with the consequences of addictive and habituating lifestyle substances.
