Nature Crime How Were Getting Conservation Wrong:

Nature Crime Rosaleen Duffy,2010-08-31 In this impressively researched alarming book Rosaleen Duffy investigates the world of nature conservation arguing that the West's attitude to endangered wildlife is shallow self contradictory and ultimately very damaging Analyzing the workings of the black market wildlife industry Duffy points out that illegal trading is often the direct result of Western consumer desires from coltan for cellular phones to exotic meats sold in London street markets She looks at the role of ecotourism showing how Western travelers contribute often unwittingly to the destruction of natural environments Most strikingly she argues that the imperatives of Western style conservation often result in serious injustice to local people who are branded as problems and subject to severe restrictions on their way of life and even extrajudicial killings The Routledge Handbook of Criminal Justice Ethics Jonathan Jacobs,Jonathan Jackson,2016-07-01

The enormous financial cost of criminal justice has motivated increased scrutiny and recognition of the need for constructive change but what of the ethical costs of current practices and policies Moreover if we seriously value the principles of liberal democracy then there is no question that the ethics of criminal justice are everybody's business concerns for the entire society The Routledge Handbook of Criminal Justice Ethics brings together international scholars to explore the most significant ethical issues throughout their many areas of expertise anchoring their discussions in the empirical realities of the issues faced rather than applying moral theory at a distance Contributions from philosophers legal scholars criminologists and psychologists bring a fresh and interdisciplinary approach to the field The Handbook is divided into three parts Part I addresses the core issues concerning criminal sanction the moral and political aspects of the justification of punishment and the relationship between law and morality Part II examines criminalization and criminal liability and the assumptions and attitudes shaping those aspects of contemporary criminal justice Part III evaluates current policies and practices of criminal procedure exploring the roles of police prosecutors judges and juries and suggesting directions for revising how criminal justice is achieved Throughout scholars seek pathways for change and suggest new solutions to address the central concerns of criminal justice ethics This book is an ideal resource for upper undergraduate and postgraduate students taking courses in criminal justice ethics criminology and criminal justice theory and also for students of philosophy interested in punishment law and society and law and ethics Modern British Nature Writing, 1789-2020 Will Abberley,Christina Alt,David Higgins,Graham Huggan,Pippa Marland,2022-03-17 This first full length study of modern British nature writing is timely and invaluable for literary scholarship in the environmental crisis Communities in Transition: Protected Nature and

Local People in Eastern and Central Europe Saska Petrova,2016-05-23 The role of local people in contemporary nature conservation practices is often poorly understood or neglected This book therefore examines questions of local participation at the nature society nexus within national parks in the transitional context of Central and Eastern Europe CEE The post 1990 reconfiguration of conservation paradigms in this part of the world has re opened various age old debates about the protection and administration of natural heritage Further complicating the situation has been the introduction of market based principles which has embedded the entire process in broader dynamics of neoliberalization and the capitalist space economy Providing an integrated perspective on why how and for whom nature conservation practices have been implemented in CEE this book sheds further light upon the mechanisms through which such practices both redefine and are affected by the everyday life of people living in national parks Offering a critical global review of the environmental motivations and power interests behind the creation of national parks as well as a typology of the relations between local people and the dynamics of nature protection in them this work challenges the dichotomy between developed and developing countries that pervades much of the academic literature on nature protection Author Saska Petrova highlights the lessons that can be learnt by applying the experiences of local community participation in environmental management in CEE to other locations undergoing major systemic change in their environmental governance practices such as the low carbon transition that is currently unfolding at a global scale

Nature's Saviours Graham Huggan, 2013-08-22 Today's celebrity conservationists many of whom made their reputations through television and other visual media play a major role in drawing public attention to an increasingly threatened world This book one of the first to address this contribution focuses on five key figures the English naturalist David Attenborough the French marine adventurer Jacques Yves Cousteau the American primatologist Dian Fossey the Canadian scientist broadcaster activist David Suzuki and the Australian crocodile hunter Steve Irwin Some of the issues the author addresses include What is the changing relationship between western conservation and celebrity How has the spread of television helped shape and mediate this relationship To what extent can celebrity conservation be seen as part of a global system in which conservation like celebrity is big business The book critically examines the heroic status accorded to the five figures mentioned above taking in the various discourses around nature science nation gender through which they and their work have been presented to us In doing so it fills in the cultural historical and ideological background behind contemporary celebrity conservationism as a popular expression of a chronically endangered world Green Grabbing: A

New Appropriation of Nature James Fairhead, Melissa Leach, Ian Scoones, 2014-10-29 Across the world ecosystems are for sale Green grabbing the appropriation of land and resources for environmental ends is an emerging process of deep and growing significance A vigorous debate on land grabbing already highlights instances where green credentials are called upon to justify appropriations of land for food or fuel Yet in other cases environmental green agendas are the core drivers and goals of grabs Green grabs may be driven by biodiversity conservation biocarbon sequestration biofuels ecosystem services or ecotourism for example In some cases theyse agendas involve the wholesale alienation of land and in others the restructuring of rules and authority in the access use and management of resources that may have profoundly alienating effects Green grabbing builds on well known histories of colonial and neo colonial resource alienation in the name of the environment Yet it involves novel forms of valuation commodification and markets for pieces and aspects of nature and an extraordinary new range of actors and alliances This book draws together seventeen original cases from African Asian and Latin American settings to ask To what extent and in what ways do green grabs constitute new forms of appropriation of nature What political and discursive dynamics underpin green grabs How and when do appropriations on the ground emerge out of circulations of green capital What are the implications for ecologies landscapes and livelihoods Who is gaining and who is losing How are agrarian social relations rights and authority being restructured and in whose interests This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Peasant Studies Transnational Environmental Crime Rob

White, 2017-07-05 The essays selected for this volume illustrate the growing interest in and importance of crime that is both environmental and transnational in nature The topics covered range from pollution and waste to biodiversity and wildlife crimes and from the violation of human rights associated with the exploitation of natural resources through to the criminogenic implications of climate change The collection provides insight into the nature and dynamics of this type of crime and examines in detail who is harmed and what can be done about it Differential victimisation and contemporary developments in environmental law enforcement are also considered Collectively these essays lay the foundations for a criminology that is forward looking global in its purview and that deals with the key environmental issues of the present age

Security and Conservation Rosaleen Duffy, 2022-04-26 An exploration of the scale practical reality and future implications of the growing integration of biodiversity conservation with global security concerns There are few keener observers of international biodiversity conservation than Rosaleen Duffy With a ferocity of purpose she investigates the tenuous connection and nuances among illegal wildlife trade terrorism threats and national security Steven R Brechin Rutgers University New Brunswick Debates regarding environmental security risks have generally focused on climate change and geopolitical water conflicts Biodiversity conservation however is increasingly identified as a critical contributor to national and global security The illegal wildlife trade is often articulated as a driver of biodiversity losses and as a source of finance for organized crime networks armed groups and even terrorist networks Conservationists international organizations and national governments have raised concerns about convergence of wildlife trafficking with other serious offenses including theft fraud corruption drugs and human trafficking counterfeiting firearms smuggling and money laundering In Security and Conservation Rosaleen Duffy examines the scale practical reality and future implications of the growing integration of biodiversity conservation with global security concerns Duffy takes a political ecology approach to develop a deeper understanding of how and why wildlife conservation turned toward security oriented approaches to tackle the illegal wildlife trade
