Bioethics, Public Health, and the Social Sciences for the Medical Professions Amy E. Caruso Brown, Travis R. Hobart, Cynthia B. Morrow, 2019-07-18 This unique textbook utilizes an integrated case based approach to explore how the domains of bioethics public health and the social sciences impact individual patients and populations It provides a structured framework suitable for both educators including course directors and others engaged in curricular design and for medical and health professions students to use in classroom settings across a range of clinical areas and allied health professions and for independent study The textbook opens with an introduction describing the intersection of ethics and public health in clinical practice and the six key themes that inform the book s core learning objectives followed by a guide to using the book It then presents 22 case studies that address a broad spectrum of patient populations clinical settings and disease pathologies Each pair of cases shares a core concept in bioethics or public health from community perspectives and end of life care to medical mistakes and stigma and marginalization They engage learners in rigorous clinical and ethical reasoning by prompting readers to make choices based on available information and then providing additional information to challenge assumptions simulating clinical decision making In addition to providing a unique detailed clinical scenario each case is presented in a consistent format which includes learning objectives questions and responses for self directed learning questions and responses for group discussion references and suggested further reading All cases integrate the six themes of patient and family centered care evidence based practice structural competency biases in decision making cultural humility and awareness of the culture of medicine and justice social responsibility and advocacy The final section discusses some challenges to evaluating courses and learning encounters that adopt the cases and includes a model framework for learner assessment

City of Thorns Ben Rawlence, 2016-02-04 To the charity workers Dadaab refugee camp is a humanitarian crisis to the Kenyan government it is a nursery for terrorists to the western media it is a dangerous no go area but to its half a million residents it is their last resort Situated hundreds of miles from any other settlement deep within the inhospitable desert of northern Kenya where only thorn bushes grow Dadaab is a city like no other Its buildings are made from mud sticks or plastic its entire economy is grey and its citizens survive on rations and luck Over the course of four years Ben Rawlence became a first hand witness to a strange and desperate limbo land getting to know many of those who have come there seeking sanctuary Among them are Guled a former child soldier who lives for football Nisho who scrapes an existence by pushing a wheelbarrow and dreaming of riches Tawane the indomitable youth leader and schoolgirl Kheyro whose future hangs upon her education In City of Thorns Rawlence interweaves the stories of nine individuals to show what life is like in the camp and to sketch the wider political forces that keep the refugees trapped there Lucid vivid and illuminating here is an urgent human story with deep international repercussions brought to life through the people who call Dadaab home

Forced Migration Alice Bloch, Giorgia Dona, 2018-08-15 Forced Migration Current Issues and Debates provides a critical engagement with and analysis of contemporary issues in the field using inter disciplinary perspectives through different geographical case studies and by employing varying methodologies The combination of authors reviewing both the key research and scholarship and offering insights from their own research ensures a comprehensive and up to date analysis of the current issues in forced migration The book is structured around three main current themes the reconfiguration of borders including virtual borders the expansion of prolonged exile and changes in protection and access to rights The first chapters in the collection provide both context and a theoretical overview by situating current debates and issues in their historical context including the evolution of field and the impact of the colonial and post colonial world order on forced migration and forced displacement These are followed by chapters framed around substantive issues including deportation and forced return protracted displacements securitising the Mediterranean and cross border migration practices refugees in global cities forced migrants in the digital age and second generation identity and transnational practices Forced Migration offers an original contribution to a growing field of study connecting theoretical ideas and empirical research with policy practice and the lived experiences of forced migrants The volume provides a solid foundation for students academics and policy makers of the main questions being asked in contemporary debates in forced migration

Europe and the Refugee Crisis Frances Trix, 2020-05-28 Since 2014 more than 60 million people have been displaced from their homes across the Middle East and Africa The European Refugee Crisis as it has come to be known is now the largest such crisis since the aftermath of World War II How have local communities reacted to the influx of asylum seekers And what can we learn from their responses Frances Trix here offers a wide ranging ethnographical and anthropological study of local individual responses to refugees from Macedonia to Germany Based on extensive interviews and field work in Europe Trix focuses for the first time on the ways that refugees have been welcomed or not as the case may be by various individuals and communities Her work ranges from Macedonians who established an NGO and lobbied to allow the refugees to use the train to the police charged with border management from a German organic food store owner who by her actions set the positive tone in her village a retired IT manager who coordinates refugee volunteers for his entire town to the district work organisation director who deems refugees unsuitable for multiple reasons The material is measured throughout against Trix's anthropological experience as well as reference to the historical and political contexts in which events are unfolding This book is essential reading for all those working on the refugee crisis and the prospects both local and global for the future

Bioviolence William Watkin, 2021-07-18 Aylan Isis Begum Grenfell Trump Harambe Guantanamo Syria Brexit Johnson COVID migrants trolling George Floyd Trump Gazing over the fractured contested territories of the current global situation Watkin finds that all these diverse happenings have one element in common They occur when biopolitical states in trying to manage and protect the life rights of their citizens habitually end up committing acts of coercion or disregard against the very people they have promised to protect When states tasked with making us live find themselves letting us die then they are practitioners of a particular kind of force that Watkin calls bioviolence This book explores and exposes the many aspects of contemporary biopower and bioviolence neglect exclusion surveillance regulation encampment trolling fake news terrorism and war As it does so it demonstrates that the very term violence is a discursive construct an effect of language made real by our behaviours embodied by our institutions and disseminated by our technologies In short bioviolence is how the contemporary powers that be make us do what they want Resolutely interdisciplinary this book is suitable for all scholars students and general readers in the fields of IR political theory philosophy the humanities sociology and journalism Public Value Adam Lindgreen,Nicole Koenig-Lewis,Martin Kitchener,John Brewer,Mark Moore,Timo Meynhardt,2019-05-08 Over the last 10 years the concept of value has emerged in both business and public life as part of an important process of measuring benchmarking and assuring the resources we invest and the outcomes we generate from our activities In the context of public life value is an important measure on the contribution to business and social good of activities for which strict financial measures are either inappropriate or fundamentally unsound A systematic interdisciplinary examination of public value is necessary to establish an essential definition and up to date picture of the field In reflecting on the public value project this book points to how the field has broadened well beyond its original focus on public sector management has deepened in terms of the development of the analytical concepts and frameworks that linked the concepts together and has been applied increasingly in concrete circumstances by academics consultants and practitioners This book covers three main topics deepening and enriching the theory of creating public value broadening the theory and practice of creating public value to voluntary and commercial organisations and collaborative networks and the challenge and opportunity that the concept of public value poses to social science and universities Collectively it offers new ways of looking at public and social assets against a backdrop of increasing financial pressure new insights into changing social attitudes and perceptions of value and new models for increasingly complicated collaborative forms of service delivery involving public private and not for profit players
