One Life Memories Edwardian Swindon:

One Life Edmund W. Mortimer, 2017-08

European Heroes Pierre Lanfranchi, Richard Holt, J A Mangan, 2013-09-13

Historians of popular culture have recently been addressing the role of myth and now it is time that social historians of sport also examined it. The contributors to this collection of essays explore the symbolic meanings that have been attached to sport in Europe by considering some of the mythic heroes who have dominated the sporting landscapes of their own countries. The ambition is to understand what these icons stood for in the eyes of those who watched or read about these vessels into which poured all manner of gender class and patriotic expectations.

Travellers through Time Jeremy Harte, 2023-06-17 An accessible history of the Roma people in England told from the inside. The Romany people have been variously portrayed as exotic strangers or as crude violent delinquent gypsies. For the first time this book describes the real history of the Romany in England from the inside. Drawing on new archival and first hand research, Jeremy Harte vividly describes the itinerant life of the Romany as well as their artistic traditions, unique language and flamboyant ceremonies. Travelers through Time tells the dramatic story of Romany life on the British margins from Tudor times through today, filled with vivid insights into the world of England's large Romany population.

The Comforts of Home in Western Europe, 1700-1900 Jon

Stobart, 2020-02-20 Comfort, both physical and affective, is a key aspect in our conceptualization of the home as a place of emotional attachment, yet its study remains underdeveloped in the context of the European house. In this volume, Jon Stobart has assembled an international cast of contributors to discuss the ways in which architectural and spatial innovations coupled with the emotional assemblage of objects to create comfortable homes in early modern Europe. The book features a two-section structure focusing on the historiography of architectural and spatial innovations and material culture in the early modern home. It also includes 10 case studies which draw on specific examples from water closets in Georgian Dublin to wallpapers in 19th-century Cambridge to illustrate how people made use of and responded to the technological improvements and the emotional assemblage of objects which made the home comfortable. In addition, it explores the role of memory and memorialisation in the domestic space and the extent to which home comforts could be carried about by travellers or reproduced in places far removed from the home. The Comforts of Home in Western Europe, 1700-1900 offers a fresh contribution to the study of comfort in the early modern home and will be vital reading for academics and students interested in early modern history, material culture, and the history of interior architecture.

New Society, 1963 Alan Sillitoe Stanley S. Atherton, 1979 History Peter Claus, John Marriott, 2014-01-14 Why should history students care about theory? What relevance does it have to the proper role of the historian? Historiography and historical theory are often perceived as complex subjects which many history students find frustrating and difficult. Philosophical approaches, postmodernism, anthropology, feminism, or Marxism can seem arcane and abstract, and students often struggle to apply these ideas in practice. Starting from the premise that historical theory and historiography are fascinating and exciting topics to study Claus and Marriott guide the student through the various historical theories and approaches in a balanced comprehensive and engaging way Packed with intriguing anecdotes from all periods of history and supported by primary extracts from original historical writings History An Introduction to Theory Method and Practice is the student friendly text which demystifies the subject with clarity and verve Key features Written in a clear and witty way Presents a balanced view of the subject rather than the polemical view of one historian Comprehensive covers the whole range of topics taught on historiography and historical theory courses in suitable depth Full of examples from different historical approaches from social cultural and political history to gender economic and world history Covers a wide chronological breadth of examples from the ancient and medieval worlds to the twentieth century Shows how students can engage with the theories covered in each chapter and apply them to their own studies via the In Practice feature at the end of each chapter Includes Discussion Documents numerous extracts from the primary historiographical texts for students to read and reflect upon Country
