Humanitarian Intervention and the AU-ECOWAS Intervention Treaties Under International Law John-Mark Iyi, 2016-01-22 The book reconciles the conflicts and legal ambiguities between African Union and ECOWAS law on the use of force on the one hand and the UN Charter and international law on the other hand In view of questions relating to African Union and UN relationship in the maintenance of international peace and security in Africa in recent years the book examines the legal issues involved and how they can be resolved By explaining the legal theory underpinning the validity of the AU ECOWAS laws the work provides a legal basis for the adoption of the AU ECOWAS laws as the frameworks for the implementation of the R2P in Africa American Book Publishing Record ,2007 Striking Power Jeremy Rabkin, John Yoo, 2017-09-12 Threats to international peace and security include the proliferation of weapons of mass destructions rogue nations and international terrorism The United States must respond to these challenges to its national security and to world stability by embracing new military technologies such as drones autonomous robots and cyber weapons These weapons can provide more precise less destructive means to coerce opponents to stop WMD proliferation clamp down on terrorism or end humanitarian disasters Efforts to constrain new military technologies are not only doomed but dangerous Most weapons in themselves are not good or evil their morality turns on the motives and purposes for the war itself These new weapons can send a strong message without cause death or severe personal injury and as a result can make war less rather than more destructive Africa and the Responsibility to Protect Dan Kuwali, Frans Viljoen, 2013-11-26 Situations of serious or massive violations of human rights are no longer purely of domestic concern and sovereignty can no longer be an absolute shield for repressive governments in such circumstances Based on this realization the international community has recognized a responsibility to protect individuals in states where their governments are unable or unwilling to provide protection against the most serious violations However so far only one intergovernmental organization the African Union AU has explicitly made the right to intervene in a Member State part of its foundational text in Article 4 h of its Constitutive Act Although there have been cases of Article 4 h type interventions in Africa the AU Assembly has not yet invoked Article 4 h explicitly This book brings together experts in the field to explore the potential application of Article 4 h and the complexities that may explain its non invocation so far Although Article 4 h is noble in purpose its implementation faces several legal and policy challenges given that the use of force penetrates the principles of state sovereignty and non intervention the very cornerstones upon which the AU is founded This book considers these issues as well as the need to reconcile Article 4 h in so far as it allows the AU to exercise military intervention to protect populations at risk of mass atrocities with the provisions of the Charter of the United Nations Drawing from the insights of law political science diplomacy and military strategy the book offers a unique combination of multi disciplinary expertise that harnesses the views of a diverse group of authors focused on the legal policy and practical insights on the implementation of Article 4 h and the responsibility to protect in Africa in order to provide

Internationalised Criminal Tribunals Sarah Williams,2012-04-02 In recent years a number of criminal tribunals have been established to investigate prosecute and try individuals accused of serious violations of international humanitarian law and international human rights law These tribunals have been described as hybrid or internationalised tribunals as their structure and applicable law consist of both international and national elements Six such tribunals are currently in operation the Special Court for Sierra Leone the Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia the International Judges and Prosecutors Programme in Kosovo the War Crimes Chamber for Bosnia and Herzegovina the Iraqi High Tribunal and the Special Tribunal for Lebanon The Special Panels for Serious Crimes in East Timor suspended operation in May 2005 although there continues to be some international involvement in investigation and prosecution of serious crimes Suggestions have also been made that this model of tribunal would be appropriate for the prosecution of atrocities committed in among others Burundi the Sudan the Democratic Republic of Congo Kenya and Liberia as well as for a wider range of international crimes most recently piracy The key aims of this book are to place the model of hybrid and internationalised tribunals in the context of other mechanisms to try international crimes to examine the increasing demand for the establishment of hybrid and internationalised judicial institutions and the factors driving such demand to define the category of hybrid and internationalised tribunals by examining the key features of the existing and proposed hybrid or internationalised tribunals as well as the features of those institutions with international elements that are generally excluded from this category to determine the legal and jurisdictional bases of existing hybrid and internationalised tribunals to analyse how the legal and jurisdictional basis of a tribunal affects other issues such as the applicable law the application of amnesties and immunities and the relationship of the tribunal with the host state third states national courts and other international criminal tribunals
The book concentrates on the definitional legal and jurisdictional aspects of hybrid and internationalised criminal tribunals as this has been the subject of some confusion in arguments before the tribunals and in the judgments of the tribunals In its concluding section the book examines the future role of internationalised and hybrid criminal tribunals particularly in light of the establishment of the ICC and the potential use of such tribunals in other contexts It also assesses how hybrid and internationalised tribunals fit into a multi layered framework of international criminal law and transitional justice

Law, Morality, and International Armed Intervention Mourtada Deme, 2013-10-14 International law is often manipulated in the debate about humanitarian intervention The Liberian case provides an opportunity to challenge the UN and The Economic Community of West African States ECOWAS new approach ECOWAS and the UN's justifications for moving away from the current norms are flawed No enlightened person would disagree with the values of peace democracy human rights
