North And South Elizabeth Gaskell:

North and South Elizabeth Gaskell, 1998-09-10 she tried to settle that most difficult problem for women how much was to be utterly merged in obedience to authority and how much might be set apart for freedom in working North and South is a novel about rebellion Moving from the industrial riots of discontented millworkers through to the unsought passions of a middle class woman and from religious crises of conscience to the ethics of naval mutiny it poses fundamental questions about the nature of social authority and obedience Through the story of Margaret Hale the middle class southerner who moves to the northern industrial town of Milton Gaskell skilfully explores issues of class and gender in the conflict between Margaret's ready sympathy with the workers and her growing attraction to the charismatic mill owner John Thornton This new revised and expanded edition sets the novel in the context of Victorian social and medical debate ABOUT THE SERIES For over 100 years Oxford World's Classics has made available the widest range of literature from around the globe Each affordable volume reflects Oxford's commitment to scholarship providing the most accurate text plus a wealth of other valuable features including expert introductions by leading authorities helpful notes to clarify the text up to date bibliographies for further study and much more

North and South (1854). By: Elizabeth Gaskell Elizabeth Gaskell, 2016-12-03 North and South is a social novel by English writer Elizabeth Gaskell Along with Wives and Daughters 1865 and Cranford 1853 it is one of her best known novels and has been adapted for television twice in 1975 and 2004 The latter version renewed interest in the novel and gained it a wider readership While Gaskell's first novel Mary Barton 1848 focused on relations between employers and workers in Manchester from the perspective of the working poor North and South uses a protagonist from southern England to present and comment on the perspectives of both mill owners and mill workers in an industrializing city North and South is set in the fictional industrial town of Milton in the North of England Forced to leave her home in the tranquil rural south Margaret Hale settles with her parents in Milton where she witnesses the brutal world wrought by the industrial revolution and employers and workers clashing in the first organised strikes Sympathetic to the poor whose courage and tenacity she admires and among whom she makes friends she clashes with John Thornton a cotton mill manufacturer who belongs to the nouveaux riches class and whose contemptuous attitude to workers Margaret rejects The novel traces both her growing understanding of the complexity of labor relations and her impact on well meaning mill owners and her conflicted relationship with John Thornton Gaskell based her depiction of Milton on Manchester where she lived as the wife of a Unitarian minister Margaret Hale 19 happily returns home from London to the idyllic southern village of Helstone after her cousin Edith marries Captain Lennox She lived nearly 10 years in the city with Edith and wealthy Aunt Shaw to learn to be an accomplished young lady Margaret herself has refused a marriage offer from the captain's brother Henry a rising barrister But her life is turned upside down when her father the local pastor leaves the Church of England and the rectory of Helstone as a matter of conscience his intellectual honesty having made him a dissenter On the suggestion of his old friend from Oxford Mr Bell he settles with his wife and daughter in Milton Northern where Mr Bell was born and owns property An industrial town in Darkshire a textile producing region it is engaged in cotton manufacturing and finds itself in the middle of the industrial revolution where masters and workers clash in the first organised strikes Margaret finds the bustling smoky town of Milton harsh and strange and she is upset by the poverty all around Mr Hale in reduced financial circumstances works as a tutor and counts as his pupil the rich and influential manufacturer Mr John Thornton master of Marlborough Mills From the outset Margaret and Thornton are at odds with each other She sees him as coarse and unfeeling he sees her as haughty But he is attracted to her beauty and self assurance and she begins to admire how he has lifted himself from poverty During the 18 months she spends in Milton Margaret gradually learns to appreciate the city and its hard working people especially Nicholas Higgins a Workers Union representative and his daughter Bessy whom she befriends Bessy is consumptive from inhalation of cotton dust and she eventually dies from it Meantime Margaret s mother is growing more seriously ill and a workers strike is brewing Masters and hands workers do not reach a resolution on the strike and an incensed mob of workers threatens Thornton and his factory with violence after he brought Irish workers into his mill Margaret implores Thornton to intervene and talk to the mob but he manages merely to fuel their anger Margaret intervenes too and is struck down by a stone Elizabeth Cleghorn Gaskell nee Stevenson 29 September 1810 12 November 1865 often referred to as Mrs Gaskell was an English novelist and short story writer
