Autonomic Communication Michael Smirnov, 2005-07-11 The first IFIP Workshop on Autonomic Communication WAC 2004 was held 18-19 October 2004 in Berlin Germany. The workshop was organized by Fraunhofer FOKUS with the help of partners of the EU funded Autonomic Communication Coordination Action IST 6475 ACCA and under technical sponsorship of IFIP WG6.6 Management of Networks and Distributed Systems. The purpose of this workshop was to discuss Autonomic Communication a new communication paradigm to assist the design of the next generation networks. WAC 2004 was explicitly focused on the principles that help to achieve purposeful behavior on top of self-organization, self-management, self-healing, self-awareness, etc. The workshop intended to derive these common principles from submissions that study network elements, autonomous behavior exposed by innovative cross-layer optimized context-aware and securely programmable protocol stacks or its middleware emulations in its interaction with numerous often dynamic network groups and communities. The goals were to understand how autonomous behaviors are learned, induced or changed and how in turn these affect other elements, groups and the network. The highly interactive and exploratory nature of WAC 2004 defined its format: six main sessions grouped in three blocks, each block followed by a panel with all speakers of the previous block as panellists and session chairs as panel moderators. The first panel aimed to highlight the main principles guiding research in algorithms, protocols and middleware. The second panel investigated grand challenges of network and service composition. The third panel had to answer the question: How does the Autonomic Network Interact with the Knowledge Plane? Panel reports were compiled by panel moderators and conclude this volume. Mergent International Manual, 2009.
