Origin Of Group Identity Viruses Addiction And Cooperation:

Origin of Group Identity Luis P. Villarreal, 2008-12-10 A sense of belonging is basic to the human experience But in this humans are not unique Essentially all life from bacteria to humans have ways by which it determines which members belong and which do not This is a basic cooperative nature of life I call group membership which is examined in this book However cooperation of living things is not easily accounted for by current theory of evolutionary biology and yet even viruses display group membership That viruses have this feature would likely seem coincidental or irrelevant to most scientist as having any possible relationship to human group identity Surely such simple molecular based relationships between viruses are unrelated to the complex cognitive and emotional nature of human group membership Yet viruses clearly affect bacterial group membership which are the most diverse and abundant cellular life form on Earth and from which all life has evolved Viruses are the most ancient numerous and adaptable biological entities we know And we have long recognized them for the harm and disease they can cause and they have been responsible for the greatest numbers of human deaths However with the sequencing of entire genomes and more recently with the shotgun sequencings of habitats we have come to realize viruses are the black hole of biology a giant force that has until recently been largely unseen and historically ignored by evolutionary biology Viruses not only can cause acute disease but also persist as stable unseen agents in their host

Information Studies And The Quest For Transdisciplinarity: Unity Through Diversity Mark Burgin, Wolfgang Hofkirchner, 2017-03-27 This book is the second volume of a two volume edition based on the International Society for Information Studies Summit Vienna 2015 on The Information Society at the Crossroads Response and Responsibility of the Sciences of Information see summit is4is org The book gives an up to date multiaspect exposition of contemporary studies in the field of information and related areas It presents most recent achievements ideas and opinions of leading researchers in this domain reflecting their quest for advancing information science and technology With the goal of building a better society in which social and technological innovations help make information key to the flourishing of humanity we dispense with the bleak view of the dark side of information society It is aimed at readers that conduct research into any aspect of information information society and information technology who develop or implement social or technological applications It is also for those who have an interest in participating in setting the goals for the sciences of information and the social applications of technological achievements and the scientific results

Self and Nonself Carlos López-Larrea, 2012-03-07 In 1960 Sir Frank Macfarlane Burnet received the Noble Prize in Physiology and Medicine He titled his Nobel Lecture Immunological Recognition of Self emphasizing the central argument of immunological tolerance in How does the vertebrate organism recognize self from nonself in this the immunological sense and how did the capacity evolve The concept of self is linked to the concept of biological self identity All organisms from bacteria to higher animals possess recognition systems to defend themselves from nonself Even in the context of the limited number of metazoan phyla that have been studied in detail we can now describe many of the alternative mechanism of immune recognition that have emerged at varying points in phylogeny Two different arms the innate and adaptive immune system have emerged at different moments in evolution and they are conceptually different The ultimate goals of immune biology include reconstructing the molecular networks underlying immune processes

Viruses: Essential Agents of Life Günther Witzany, 2012-11-13 A renaissance of virus research is taking centre stage in biology Empirical data from the last decade indicate the important roles of viruses both in the evolution of all life and as symbionts of host organisms There is increasing evidence that all cellular life is colonized by exogenous and or endogenous viruses in a non lytic but persistent lifestyle Viruses and viral parts form the most numerous genetic matter on this planet

Biocommunication of Archaea Guenther Witzany, 2017-09-27 Archaea represent a third domain of life with unique properties not found in the other domains Archaea actively compete for environmental resources They perceive themselves and can distinguish between self and non self They process and evaluate available information and then modify their behaviour accordingly They assess their surroundings estimate how much energy they need for particular goals and then realize the optimum variant These highly diverse competences show us that this is possible owing to sign aling mediated communication processes within archaeal cells intra organismic between the same related and different archaeal species interorganismic and between archaea and nonarchaeal organisms transorganismic This is crucial in coordinating growth and development shape and dynamics Such communication must function both on the local level and between widely separated colony parts This allows archaea to coordinate appropriate response behaviors in a differentiated manner to their current developmental status and physiological influences This book will orientate further investigations on how archaeal ecosphere inhabitants communicate with each other to coordinate their behavioral patterns and whats the role of viruses in this highly dynamic interactional networks

Biocommunication of Ciliates Guenther Witzany, Mariusz Nowacki, 2016-05-23 This is the first coherent description of all levels of communication of ciliates Ciliates are highly sensitive organisms that actively compete for environmental resources They assess their surroundings estimate how much energy they need for particular goals and then realise the optimum variant They take measures to control certain environmental resources They perceive themselves and can distinguish between self and non self They process and evaluate information and then modify their behaviour accordingly These highly diverse competences show us that this is possible owing to sign aling mediated communication processes within ciliates intra organismic between the same related and different ciliate species inter organismic and between ciliates and non ciliate organisms trans organismic This is crucial in coordinating growth and development shape and dynamics This book further serves as a learning tool for research aspects in biocommunication in ciliates It will guide scientists in further investigations on ciliate behavior how they mediate signaling processes between themselves and the environment
