Paramo An Andean Ecosystem Under Human Influence:

Paramo Henrik Balslev, James L. Luteyn, 1992 This volume developed from Papers given at a discussion meeting in June of 1991 describes the unique flora and fauna of paramo a high altitude Andean grassland ecosystem The paramos are a rich botanically diverse range of habitats of vital importance both to the local economy and as a major catchment area for water for many of the region's cities and great rivers This book focuses on the activities of man in grazing cutting burning and cultivating this fragile region Important new research from Mexico Costa Rica Venezuela Colombia Ecuador and Peru is brought together for the first time to provide an essential reference for both those interested in Central and South American ecology and the conservation and proper use of those ecosystems a little studied habitat of growing importance Describes a rich and fragile environment under human threat First book devoted to this habitat Ecosystem and Species

Adaptations in the Andean-Amazonian Region Ana Sabogal, 2023-11-30 This book focuses on ecosystems and species adaptations in the unique Peruvian Andean Amazonian region The presence of the Andes as the backbone is the cause of the huge ecosystem diversity and biodiversity of species that characterize the Andean Amazonian ecosystems The complex orography of Peru as results of the Andes presence in its tropical setting favors the occurrence of local climatic features that provide diverse environmental conditions for multiple unique plant and animal species many of them endemic to the Andes The book will introduce the reader to the climatic history and geography of the Peruvian Andes and the Peruvian Natural Areas Protection system focusing on the Manu and Northwest biosphere reserves given their relevant ecological importance as well as the relationship between them and the local population Important global topics like urbanization deglaciation and global warming will be analyzed and discussed due to their impact in the Andes Amazon ecosystems Finally the traditional land use systems agrobiodiversity and agrodiversity in Peru are present and linked with the climate change adaptations

Land Use Change and Mountain Biodiversity Eva M. Spehn, Maximo Liberman, Christian Korner, 2006-01-13 Part of the worldwide biodiversity program DIVERSITAS the Global Mountain Biodiversity Assessment GMBA assesses the biological richness of high elevation biota GMBA's focus includes the uppermost forest regions or their substitute rangeland vegetation the treeline ecotone and the alpine and nival belts Providing more than description the GM Fire in the South American Ecosystems Alessandra Fidelis, Vânia R. Pivello, 2025-07-01 The incidence of anthropogenic fires in South America has increased lately and fire effects on the biodiversity and ecosystem services are of great concern On the other hand natural fires have been present in the continent for thousands of years acting as an evolutionary driver of vegetation and fauna Therefore several ecosystems in South America are fire prone due to their evolutionary history while those that have not evolved under frequent fires are fire sensitive At the same time as humans increase fire frequency in some environments they try to banish fire from others and such anthropogenic fire regimes have enormous consequences for biota ecosystem services and the environment This book will address the various South American ecosystems that benefit from the presence of fire but also those that are harmed by fire The effects of fire on plant and animal biodiversity of the main South American ecosystems will be presented and discussed considering current trends in climate and land use change bringing understanding about when and how fire should or should not be used to benefit nature and humans Options for fire planning and management will be highlighted especially considering the reduction of wildfire risk and the conservation of biodiversity and natural resources This broad comprehension of the fire issue in South America will support wise decisions by environmental analysts conservation managers and public policy makers

The Ecology of Volcán Chiles Paul M. Ramsay, 2001 Volcan Chiles Mountain ecology Ecohydrology of the Andes Páramo Region Veronica G. Minaya Maldonado, 2017-07-14 In the Andes mountainous region of South America grasslands known as p ramos provide important ecosystem services like sustaining biodiversity securing carbon sequestration and providing water storage However many p ramos regions are subject to land use change due to expanding agriculture intensified grazing and land burning These are usually caused by socio economic factors driving local communities to increase their income generation Trying to achieve a better understanding of the p ramos is often restricted to exploring specific details and does not follow an integrated approach or a comprehensive ecosystem analysis In this research the focus is on better understanding the dominant ecohydrological processes and their interactions An integrated approach is followed using in situ measurements field experiments laboratory analyses and numerical modelling Also different hydroinformatics tools are used to identify and quantify the ecosystem services provided by the p ramos Moreover a framework is developed that allows a more realistic quantification and mapping of the main ecosystem services The approach was carried out for a test site in an Ecological area in North Ecuador The findings show a clear difference in ecosystem services depending on their altitudinal range and type of vegetation These results can be used to further develop environmental management and landscape planning strategies in order to better meet the social goals This research is aligned with the priorities advocated in the IPCC Report 2007 to improve representation of the interactive coupling between ecosystems and the climate system and with SDG 15 Life on Land By 2020 ensure the conservation restoration and sustainable use of terrestrial and inland freshwater ecosystems and their services

Lentz, 2000-09-26 We often envision the New World before the arrival of the Europeans as a land of pristine natural beauty and undisturbed environments However David Lentz offers an alternative view by detailing the impact of native cultures on these ecosystems prior to their contact with Europeans Drawing on a wide range of experts from the fields of paleoclimatology historical ecology paleontology botany geology conservation science and resource management this book unlocks the secret of how the Western Hemisphere s indigenous inhabitants influenced and transformed their natural environment A rare combination of collaborators uncovers the changes that took place in North America Mexico Central America the Andes and Amazonia Each section of the book has been comprehensively arranged so that a botanical description of the natural vegetation of the region is coupled with a set of case studies outlining local human influences From modifications of vegetation to changes in soil wildlife microclimate hydrology and the land surface itself this collection addresses one of the great issues of our time the human modification of the earth Phytocoenologia ,1998 Arctic and Alpine Research ,1996 The Journal of Raptor Research ,1999 Memoirs of the New York Botanical Garden ,2005
