Otto Dix And New Objectivity:

Otto Dix and the New Objectivity Otto Dix, 2012 This is the first publication to illuminate Neue Sachlichkeit against the backdrop of the Weimar Republic and National Socialism. Dix's works including the key Metropolis triptych 1928-29 the great psychological portraits and last but not least the landscapes with their hidden symbolism painted during the years he spent at Lake Constance form the starting point for this exploration of his oeuvre. They are placed in a context with works of art by George Grosz, Rudolf Schlichter and Christian Schad creating a new perspective on this crucial chapter in German art history.

New Objectivity Sergiusz Michalski, 2003 Drawing on new research from local archives as well as reinterpretations of published literature Power and the People describes how England remained governable between 1525 and 1640 despite the wars, famine, epidemics and dynastic and religious crises of the period. The book surveys the mechanisms of authority at various levels from the street and alehouse to the manor and the royal court. Maintaining order was a difficult challenge given that England had no standing army or professional police and Alison Wall investigates everything from the roles of village constables to the social cohesiveness that came from civic celebrations and participatory politics. Her book provides students with a rich perspective on the social world and political culture of early modern England.

Otto Dix and Weimar Media Culture Anne Reimers, 2021 Otto Dix 1891-1969 was a leading figure of the Neue Sachlichkeit or New Objectivity movement in painting in 1920s Germany. This groundbreaking study analyses for the first time the relationship between Dix's verist realist portrait paintings and the rapidly expanding mass media culture of the Weimar era that surrounded it. The book focuses on a small number of portrait paintings created in the first half of the 1920s to explore four specific aspects: the way Dix engaged with fashion and celebrity culture; how he responded to the challenge posed by photography and film; how he dealt with a situation where black and white reproductions were the most common way in which a diverse audience encountered his work; and the way in which Dix's career development ran in parallel with the commentary on his work in journalistic and specialist media publications. Temporality, medium, specificity and reproduction are identified as concerns that drove the artist's aesthetic responses to a historically specific environment. The book draws upon archival material, letters and interviews by the artist and a broad variety of contemporary publications by art critics and art historians to reveal new information about key paintings such as his Portrait of the Dancer Anita Berber 1925.

Neue Sachlichkeit 1918-33 Steve Plumb, 2006-01-01 Neue Sachlichkeit is thought by many to have too many diverse elements to be a unified movement. Originally divided by G F Hartlaub into two wings, Neue Sachlichkeit has since been broken down by critics into more groups, sometimes with opposing styles or regional influences. However, the importance of these divisions has rarely been explored in depth. Unlike previous surveys which accept Neue Sachlichkeit as a divided entity, this book shows for the first time that in spite of its divisions, it may still be regarded as a unified, coherent movement. While different artists may have sought to express different specific concerns, what they all had in common was that they were uncomfortable with the world as it stood.

and it is the way that this was expressed making use of the object that gave Neue Sachlichkeit its unity This was just as true of the literature and photography of Neue Sachlichkeit where the same themes as those found in the painting were frequently used The fact that these are shared themes across different cultural media demonstrates that Neue Sachlichkeit reflected a mood of its time and this book explores the ways in which this mood was expressed New Objectivity Stephanie Barron, Sabine M. Eckmann, 2015 Between the end of World War I and the Nazi assumption of power Germany's Weimar Republic 1919-1933 functioned as a thriving laboratory of art and culture As the country experienced unprecedented and often tumultuous social, economic and political upheaval many artists rejected Expressionism in favour of a new realism to capture this emerging society Dubbed Neue Sachlichkeit New Objectivity its adherents turned a cold eye on the new Germany its desperate prostitutes and crippled war veterans its alienated urban landscapes its decadent underworld where anything was available for a price Showcasing 150 works by more than 50 artists this book reflects the full diversity and strategies of this art form Organised around five thematic sections it mixes photography, works on paper and painting to bring them into a visual dialogue Artists such as Otto Dix, George Grosz and Max Beckmann are included alongside figures such as Christian Schad, Alexander Kanoldt, Georg Schrimpf, August Sander, Lotte Jacobi and Aenne Biermann Also included are numerous essays that examine the politics of New Objectivity and its legacy the relation of this new realism to international art movements of the time the context of gender roles and sexuality and the influence of new technology and consumer goods Published in association with the Los Angeles County Museum of Art AUTHOR Stephanie Barron is a Senior Curator and heads the Modern Art department at the Los Angeles Contemporary Museum of Art Sabine Eckmann is the William T Kemper Director and Chief Curator of the Mildred Lane Kemper Art Museum in St Louis Missouri 300 colour illustrations New Objectivity Olaf Peters, 2025-02-20 On the eve of its subject's centennial this richly illustrated and meticulously researched catalog celebrates and reconsiders one of the most significant artistic movements of the twentieth century Gustav F Hartlaub's 1925 exhibition Neue Sachlichkeit New Objectivity at the Kunsthalle Mannheim was a pivotal event that showcased a new artistic movement in Germany characterized by its critical realism, social commentary and detailed depiction of contemporary life it marked a significant departure from Expressionism's emotional intensity But it was divided by two philosophies the unflinching and socially critical Verists Otto Dix, George Grosz, Georg Scholz and others and the Classicists Alexander Kanoldt, Georg Schrimpf and Christian Schad who focused on harmony and beauty This wide ranging survey explores the tension between these camps and interprets it as a coherent chapter in art history Essays by leading experts shed new light on the movement through the lens of regionalism while considering a wide spectrum of media architecture, design, drawings, film, paintings, photography and philosophy Their illuminating texts are accompanied by stunning reproductions of works such as Otto Dix's Portrait of the Lawyer Dr Fritz Glaser, Georg Scholz's Of Things to Come and Marcel Breuer's Chair B 33 Impeccably produced and researched this volume captures the ways that the New Objectivity

proponents mirrored the Weimar period's cultural political and social complexities Bitter Witness Linda F. McGreevy, 2001 Bitter Witness is an intensive factual study of Otto Dix's war related art. It is the first book to place Dix's etching cycle Der Krieg alongside numerous paintings and drawings in the perspective of his war experience on two fronts from mid 1915 to 1918's finale. It includes a full history of the war, the Weimar Republic's socio political upheavals and the Nazi years following Dix and his colleagues including Kaethe Kollwitz through the artistic movements and events in the first half of Germany's most turbulent century Peacebuilding and the Arts Jolyon Mitchell, Giselle Vincett, Theodora Hawksley, Hal Culbertson, 2019-11-19 Ending violent conflict requires societies to take leaps of political imagination. Artistic communities are often uniquely placed to help promote new thinking by enabling people to see things differently. In place of conflict's binary divisions artists are often charged with exploring the ambiguities and possibilities of the excluded middle. Yet their role in peacebuilding remains little explored. This excellent and agenda setting volume provides a ground breaking look at a range of artistic practices and the ways in which they have attempted to support peacebuilding a must read for all practitioners and policy makers and indeed other peacemakers looking for inspiration. Professor Christine Bell FBA Professor of Constitutional Law Assistant Principal Global Justice and co director of the Global Justice Academy The University of Edinburgh UK Peacebuilding and the Arts offers an impressive and impressively comprehensive engagement with the role that visual art music literature film and theatre play in building peaceful and just societies. Without idealizing the role of the arts the authors explore their potential and limits in a wide range of cases from Korea Cambodia Colombia and Northern Ireland to Uganda Rwanda South Africa and Israel Palestine. Roland Bleiker Professor of International Relations University of Queensland Australia and author of Aesthetics and World Politics and Visual Global Politics Peacebuilding and the Arts is the first publication to focus critically and comprehensively on the relations between the creative arts and peacebuilding expanding the conventional boundaries of peacebuilding and conflict transformation to include the artist actor poet novelist dramatist musician dancer and film director. The sections on the visual arts music literature film and theatre include case studies from very different cultures contexts and settings but a central theme is that the creative arts can play a unique and crucial role in the building of peaceful and just societies with the power to transform relationships heal wounds and nurture compassion and empathy. Peacebuilding and the Arts is a vital and unique resource which will stimulate critical discussion and further research but it will also help to refine and reframe our understanding of peacebuilding. While it will undoubtedly become mandatory reading for students of peacebuilding and the arts its original approach and dynamic exploratory style should attract a much wider interdisciplinary audience. Professor Anna King Professor of Religious Studies and Social Anthropology and Director of Research Centre of Religion Reconciliation and Peace WCRRP University of Winchester UK This volume explores the relationship between peacebuilding and the arts. Through a series of original essays authors consider some of the ways that different art forms including film theatre music literature dance and other forms of visual art can contribute to the processes and practices of building peace This book breaks new ground by setting out fresh ways of analysing the relationship between peacebuilding and the arts Divided into five sections on the Visual Arts Music Literature Film and Theatre Dance over 20 authors offer conceptual overviews of each art form as well as new case studies from around the globe and critical reflections on how the arts can contribute to peacebuilding As interest in the topic increases no other book approaches this complex relationship in the way that Peacebuilding and the Arts does By bringing together the insights of scholars and practitioners working at the intersection of the arts and peacebuilding this book develops a series of unique critical perspectives on the interaction of diverse art forms with a range of peacebuilding endeavours New Objectivity
