The Basketball Coach's Primer Thomas Frood, 2018-09-24 The Basketball Coach's Primer is a resource of basketball ideas. It is written for coaches ready to review the principles and methods of the game before getting started with a new team or for renewing coaches reviewing for the next season of basketball. Reviewing and renewing to gain greater understanding makes the game better for all the people of basketball. The basketball content or substance herein is not the authoritative last word but this study puts forward the important ideas for developing the players and the game at a fundamental level. This resource provides a synopsis of essentials including a comprehensive outline of the basic maneuvers and processes for developing the skills and mobility of the players. A substantial quantity of relevant game specific basketball applications are added to the mix of ideas for good measure. The Basketball Coach's Primer also lays the basis for a more advanced game if needed.

Designing Cooperative Systems Rose Dieng, 2000 The main assumption behind the COOP conferences is that co-operative systems design requires a deep understanding of the co-operative work of dyads groups and organizations involving both artefacts and social conventions. The key topic of COOP 2000 was The Use of Theories and Models in Designing Cooperative Systems. Two opposite methodological approaches to co-operative system design can be clearly identified: a pragmatic approach or an approach based on theories and models. Objectives of the COOP 2000 Conference included clarifying the reasons why one needs or does not need to use a theory or a model for design, comparing the pragmatic and the theory model based approaches and identifying possible joint points between them, discussing the relevance of the theories models with respect to the design of co-operative systems to better delimit the respective application fields of the various theories models and to identify their possible joint points.
