Literacy and second language learning for the linguistic integration of adult migrants Fernanda Minuz, Jeanne Kurvers, Karen Schramm, Lorenzo Rocca, Rola Naeb, 2022-06-15 Language skills foster among other things social inclusion, access to education and employment. Within this context, non-literate or low-literate migrants have specific educational needs. This reference guide is meant for language educators, curriculum designers and language policy makers in their endeavour to design, implement, evaluate and improve curricula tailored toward the specific needs of non- and low-literate adult migrants. This group of migrants faces the complex and demanding task of learning a language while either learning to read and write for the first time or developing their literacy skills. They rarely receive adequate instruction in terms of hours of tuition and targeted teaching approaches, whereas they are very often requested to take a compulsory written test. The reference guide contains a definition of target users and learners, the rationale related to the development of the descriptors, principles for teaching literacy and second languages, scales and tables of descriptors, aspects of curriculum design at the macro, meso and micro levels and recommendations on assessment procedures and tools within the learning environment. The guide also contains descriptors that build on the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR) and the CEFR Companion volume up to the A1 level for adult migrants with special attention given to literacy learners.

Interfaces Between Language And Cognition Yury Y. Shtyrov, Andriy Myachykov, Christoph Scheepers, 2013-06-28 Cognitive mechanisms underlying linguistic communication do not only rely upon retrieval and processing of linguistic information; they also involve constant updating and organizing of this linguistic information in relation with other more general cognitive mechanisms. Some existing theoretical models assume such a tight interactive link between domain-general and domain-specific sources of information in the cognitive organization of the linguistic faculty and during language use. Domain-specific constraints may include, for example, grammatical as well as lexical and pragmatic knowledge. Domain-general constraints comprise processing limitations imposed by the cognitive mechanisms of memory attention learning and social interaction However much of the existing research tends to focus on one or the other of the aforementioned areas while integrative accounts are still rather sparse at present Therefore the aim of this Research Topic of Frontiers in Cognition is to bring together researchers who with in their respective research fields and by using different methodologies represent integrative approaches to the study of language We invite submissions from a wide range of interrelated areas of research cognitive architectures of language aspects of language processing linguistic development bilingualism language embodiment neuropsychology of linguistic function among others We would like to solicit original research contributions discussing behavioral neurophysiological and computational evidence as well as papers on methodological and or theoretical aspects of the interplay between linguistic and non linguistic cognitive processes
