Health Behaviour and Health Promotion in a Public Health Psychology Thomas von Lengerke, 2001 Health psychology is frequently described as behaviour oriented public health as system oriented. This study examines how political participation and health behaviour of individuals on one hand and system behaviour in terms of healthy policy on the other may represent common issues to the two fields. Theoretically it refers to social ecology and health promotion approaches such as community psychology and WHO's Ottawa Charter. Empirically data gathered within the EU Biomed2 Project MAREPS in population and policymaker surveys in Belgium, Finland, Germany, the Netherlands, Spain and Switzerland are analysed. Besides political participation results relate to breast cancer early detection smoking prevention and physical activity promotion It is concluded that the co production of health by policymakers and populations calls for analysis and evaluation of contextual factors for health behaviour and multilevel health promotion action within a public health psychology     *The tempest.
