New Guinea's vegetable sector: Identifying constraints using quantitative, qualitative, and large language model methods Fang, Peixun, Anamo, Iga, Gimiseve, Harry, Hayoge, Glen, Mukerjee, Rishabh, Schmidt, Emily, Zhang, Xiaobo, 2025-07-14 This paper evaluates the constraints within Papua New Guinea's vegetable sector drawing on large scale household surveys extensive qualitative interviews with key stakeholders and Large Language Model LLM methods Our survey data reveal that vegetable production is ubiquitous with almost all households surveyed 91% growing at least one vegetable Indigenous varieties such as leafy greens 96% and fresh beans 69% are widely cultivated across regions while high value vegetables like onion 17% and tomato 19% show more regional concentration Over half 53% of PNG vegetable farmers sell their produce with farmers located in the nonseasonal highlands agro ecological area leading in market participation 66% contributing to an overall commercialization rate of 24% defined as the share of production sold However modern input use particularly improved seed adoption significantly lags behind output commercialization in all agroecological zones except the islands survey areas The quantitative analysis using the PNG Rural Household Survey 2023 and the qualitative analysis drawing from both manual review and LLM assisted processing of in depth interview notes consistently identify poor feeder roads as critical bottlenecks for every stakeholder across PNG's vegetable value chain Beyond transportation these interviews repeatedly highlighted persistent seed supply shortages and high seed costs as significant hurdles Since PNG depends on imported vegetable seeds several structural and procedural barriers contribute to these shortages These include potentially arduous quarantine procedures limited foreign exchange for seed imports and cumbersome permit processes often leaving major distributors with insufficient stock These reported bottlenecks may contribute to the low improved seed adoption and use reflected in the household survey analysis

Law Librarianship Practice Ellyssa Kroski, 2025-07-10

This groundbreaking new legal librarianship book serves as an invaluable resource for practicing law librarians who want to be at the forefront of information technology and law libraries. Law librarianship is a constantly evolving field that has seen major shifts in practice over the past several years, including the post-pandemic trend towards remote and hybrid work, the increased prominence of virtual services, the outsourcing of library staff, burgeoning cybersecurity risks, and the advent of generative AI. Law librarians have adroitly adapted to all of these changes and have once again proven their resilience. Law Librarianship Practice is a cutting-edge book that provides insights into the latest emerging trends and technologies in academic, government, and law firm librarianship. This book offers guidance from forward-thinking library leaders on how they are tackling the challenges of law librarianship today, including managing remote workforces, negotiating with vendors, navigating outsourcing services, planning for emergencies, riding out law firm mergers, succession planning, and more. Experts working in the field provide practical applications of new technologies and opportunities such as how librarians are conducting AI-informed competitive intelligence using big data for decision making and what's happening in artificial intelligence. The book also covers innovative initiatives in the areas of diversity, equity, and inclusion. Access to Justice and more.

Law Librarianship Practice serves as a comprehensive manual of modern-day law library practices, providing invaluable resources for law librarians. Readers will gain inspiration from nearly thirty chapters contributed by distinguished academic, government, and law firm librarians, as well as library consultants who share their experience along with a combination of researched data, contract excerpts, surveys, and other real-world intelligence. Divided into three segments, readers will be led through twenty-eight chapters in the areas of Law Library Management, Law Library Technologies, and Law Library Challenges and Opportunities.
