Guidelines for Process Safety in Outsourced Manufacturing Operations CCPS (Center for Chemical Process Safety), 2010-08-27 In today's competitive economy companies often augment in-house production by outsourcing chemical reaction processes and distillation, drying, formulating, blending, and packaging operations. While most of these tolling or contracted manufacturing services proceed without incident, recent major accidents have pointed to weaknesses in some tolling arrangements such as reactivity of materials and processes. This Guidelines book provides the reader with proven procedures to improve process safety throughout the life cycle of a contracted manufacturing operation. Extensive checklists and examples used throughout the book make it a valuable learning tool and reference for companies conducting toll manufacturing or considering outsourcing manufacturing operations.

Salthouse, 1992 The study of age-related changes in cognitive processes is flourishing as never before, making the area an exciting one for a growing number of researchers. In addition, cognitive aging research is moving out from its traditional roots in experimental and developmental psychology, creating increased contact with cognitive neuropsychology and cognitive neuroscience. To reflect these changes in the field, this volume includes chapters on abnormal aging, the neuroscience of aging, and applied cognitive psychology, along with the core section on basic cognitive processes. While other recent compilations of research in this area have given relatively brief overviews of the literature, the contributors were given space to review each topic in depth, asked to evaluate the field not simply their own contributions, and to provide critical commentaries from their personal perspectives. Couched most often in terms of cognitive or information processing models, the general perspective of the contributors is a biologically based account of aging. This shared viewpoint gives the volume particular coherence in its treatment of theories and data. Topics covered include age differences in attention, perception, memory, knowledge representation, reasoning, and language, as well as their neuropsychological and neurological correlates and practical implications.
