Never A Choice The Choices Trilogy 1:

Play/Write Douglas Eyman, Andréa D. Davis, 2016-04-06 Play/Write Digital Rhetoric Writing Games is an edited collection of essays that examines the relationship between games and writing examining how writing functions both within games and the networks of activity that surround games and gameplay. The collection is organized based on the primary location and function of the game writing relationship examining writing about games as objects of critique and sites of rhetorical action ancillary and instructional writing that takes place around games the writing that takes place within the game using games as persuasive forms of communication writing through games and writing that goes into the production of games. While not every chapter focuses exclusively on pedagogy the collection includes many selections that consider the possibilities of using computer games in writing instruction. However it also provides a bridge between academic views of games as contexts for writing and industry approaches to the writing process in game design as well as an examination of a variety of game related genres that could be used in composition courses

Human Freedom, Divine Knowledge, and Mere Molinism Timothy A. Stratton, 2020-10-02 Does humanity possess the freedom to think and act or are we always caused and determined to think and act exactly how we think and act by things outside of our control. If we are always causally determined to think and act by things outside of our control then how can humans be genuinely responsible for any of our thoughts or following actions. However if humanity is genuinely free and responsible for at least some of our thoughts and actions then how can the Christian rationally affirm the doctrine that God is totally sovereign and predestines all things. In Human Freedom, Divine Knowledge, and Mere Molinism Timothy A. Stratton surveys the history of theological thought from Augustine to Edwards and reaches surprising historical conclusions supporting what he refers to as limited libertarian freedom. Stratton goes further to offer multiple arguments appealing to Scripture, theology and philosophy that each conclude humanity does in fact possess libertarian freedom. He then appeals to the work of Luis de Molina and offers unique arguments concluding that God possesses middle knowledge. If this is the case then God can be completely sovereign and predestine all things without violating human freedom and responsibility.
