The McGurk Universe K.J. Donnelly,2023-01-01 This book reconsiders audiovisual culture through a focus on human perception with recourse to ideas derived from recent neuroscience It proceeds from the assumption that rather than simply working on a straightforward cognitive level audiovisual culture also functions more fundamentally on a physiological level directly exploiting precise aspects of human perception Vision and hearing are unified in a merged signal in the brain through being processed in the same areas This is illustrated by the startling McGurk Effect whereby the perception of spoken sound is changed by its accompanying image and counterpart effects which demonstrate that what we see is affected by different sounds accompanying sounds This blending of sound and images into a whole has become a universal aspect of culture not only evident in films and television but also in video games and short Internet clips Indeed this aesthetic formation has become the dominant of this period The McGurk Universe attends to how audiovisual culture engages with and mediates between physiological and psychological levels

Restoring the Human Context to Literary and Performance Studies Howard Mancing,Jennifer Marston William,2022-01-28 Restoring the Human Context to Literary and Performance Studies argues that much of contemporary literary theory is still predicated at least implicitly on outdated linguistic and psychological models such as post structuralism psychoanalysis and behaviorism which significantly contradict current dominant scientific views By contrast this monograph promotes an alternative paradigm for literary studies namely Contextualism and in so doing highlights the similarities and differences among the sometimes conflicting contemporary cognitive approaches to literature and performance arguing not in favor of one over the other but for Contextualism as their common ground The International Encyclopedia of Primatology, 3 Volume Set Agustín Fuentes,2017-04-24 The International Encyclopedia of Primatology represents the first comprehensive encyclopedic reference focusing on the behaviour biology ecology evolution genetics and taxonomy of human and non human primates Represents the first comprehensive encyclopedic reference relating to primatology Features more than 450 entries covering topics ranging from the taxonomy history behaviour ecology captive management and diseases of primates to their use in research cognition conservation and representations in literature Includes coverage of the basic scientific concepts that underlie each topic along with the latest advances in the field Highly accessible to undergraduate and graduate students in primatology anthropology and the medical biological and zoological sciences Essential reference for academics researchers and commercial and conservation organizations This work is also available as an online resource at www.encyclopediaofprimatology.com

Cultural Patterns And Neurocognitive Circuits II: East-west Connections Balazs Gulyas,Jan Wouter Vassbinder,2017-12-26 The contents of this book continues the theme as in the previous volume on cultural patterns and cognitive patterns in the East and West with special regard to those patterns which are determined by our natural genetic endowments in contrast to those patterns which are influenced by our cultural East West influences and within this context a unique flavour is given to the good life aspects of adapting to this global community The chapters written by leading neuroscientists give an overarching picture from the elementary organisational principles of the human brain through the basic perceptual and motor functions of the brain to the highest levels of cognition including aesthetical or moral judgments with an eye on what can be called good life in both Eastern and Western cultures A unique compilation of state of the art overviews of how the human brain is organised and functions in order to achieve high level of social moral or aesthetic thoughts across cultures Published in collaboration with Institute Para Limes Mapping Frontier Research in the Humanities Claus Emmeche,David Budtz Pedersen,Frerik Stjernfelt,2016-12-01 Knowledge production in academia today is burgeoning and increasingly interdisciplinary in nature Research within the humanities is no exception it is distributed across a variety of methodic styles of research and increasingly involves interactions with fields outside the narrow confines of the university As a result the notion of liberal arts and humanities within Western universities is undergoing profound transformations In Mapping Frontier Research in the Humanities the contributors explore this transformative process What are the implications both for the modes of research and for the organisation of the humanities and higher education The volume explores the intra and extra academic engagement of humanities researchers their styles of research and exemplifies their interdisciplinary character The humanities are shaping debates about culture and identity but how Has neuroscience changed the humanities What do they tell us about hypes and economic bubbles What is their international agenda Drawing on a number of case studies from the humanities the perceived divide between classical and post academic modes of research can be captured by a republican theory of the humanities Avoiding simple mechanical metrics the contributors suggest a heuristic appreciation of different types of impact and styles of research From this perspective a more composite picture of research on human culture language and history emerges It goes beyond rational agents and situates humanities research in more complex landscapes of collective identities networks and constraints that open for new forms of intellectual leadership in the 21st century The Oxford Handbook of Close Relationships Jeffry A.
